Accessories Spring 2024

We are pleased to present HAY's Spring 2024 Accessories Collection, comprising a mix of new designer collabs and updates to existing partnerships or series. A new collaboration with Pereira Office has resulted in the tableware collection Barro - while Mette Hay and Barbara Maj Husted Werner of Holly Golightly have partnered up on a bold and original dog accessories collection. The colourful MVS Cutlery collection represents the continuation of Muller Van Severen's successful collaboration with HAY, as does Ram, Ana Kraš' colour-blocked textile collection. Other new products include a foldable mattress, and the Waffle Bathrobe and Bias Rug in new colours.

The Spring product launches will be supported by relevant promotional material, including lifestyle photos and HAY.com stories, Instagram and other SoMe content.

Introducing HAY Dogs Collection Holly Golightly for HAY

HAY Dogs came about when Mette Hay asked her friend Barbara Maj Husted Werner – owner of the brand, curated fashion and interiors boutique Holly Golightly – to design a series of original and colourful dog accessories on one of their joint dog walks.

Combining Mette Hay's passion for elevating the everyday objects in our homes and Holly Golightly's innate sense of style, HAY Dogs invites dog owners and their pets into the HAY universe with functional accessories in curated colours and cheerful, visually appealing designs.

The Dog Collection is suitable for all dog breeds and sizes and includes collars, leashes, toys, beds, bowls, and scarves.

Ram Collection

Design by Ana Kraš

Designed for HAY by Serbian Ana Kraš, Ram is a collection of simple yet colourful textile accessories for the home. Meaning 'Frame' in Serbian, the designs are based around the classic motif of a frame, where the designer uses contrasting blocks of woven colour to create a frame effect. Visually strong yet with timeless aesthetics, the collection of cushions, napkins and placemats brings colour to a room and can transform the look of a sofa or table setting.

Serbian designer Ana Kraš is based between Paris and New York, where she works on creative projects and collaborations in design, art, photography, and fashion.

Barro Collection

Design by Pereira Office

Designed by Portuguese Rui Pereira, Barro is a tableware collection that brings the warmth and beautiful simplicity of terracotta to the table. Meaning 'red clay' in Portuguese, Barro represents the designer's appreciation of the traditions and uses associated with this ancient material. Crafted in Portugal from durable terracotta, the Barro Collection combines natural glazes and high-gloss colours that can be matched or mixed in innumerable personalised combinations.

Portuguese product designer Rui Pereira is fascinated in learning from different cultures, and he seeks to find new perspectives and experiences by redefining product typologies, while exploring the potential of materials and manufacturing techniques.

Rui Pereira

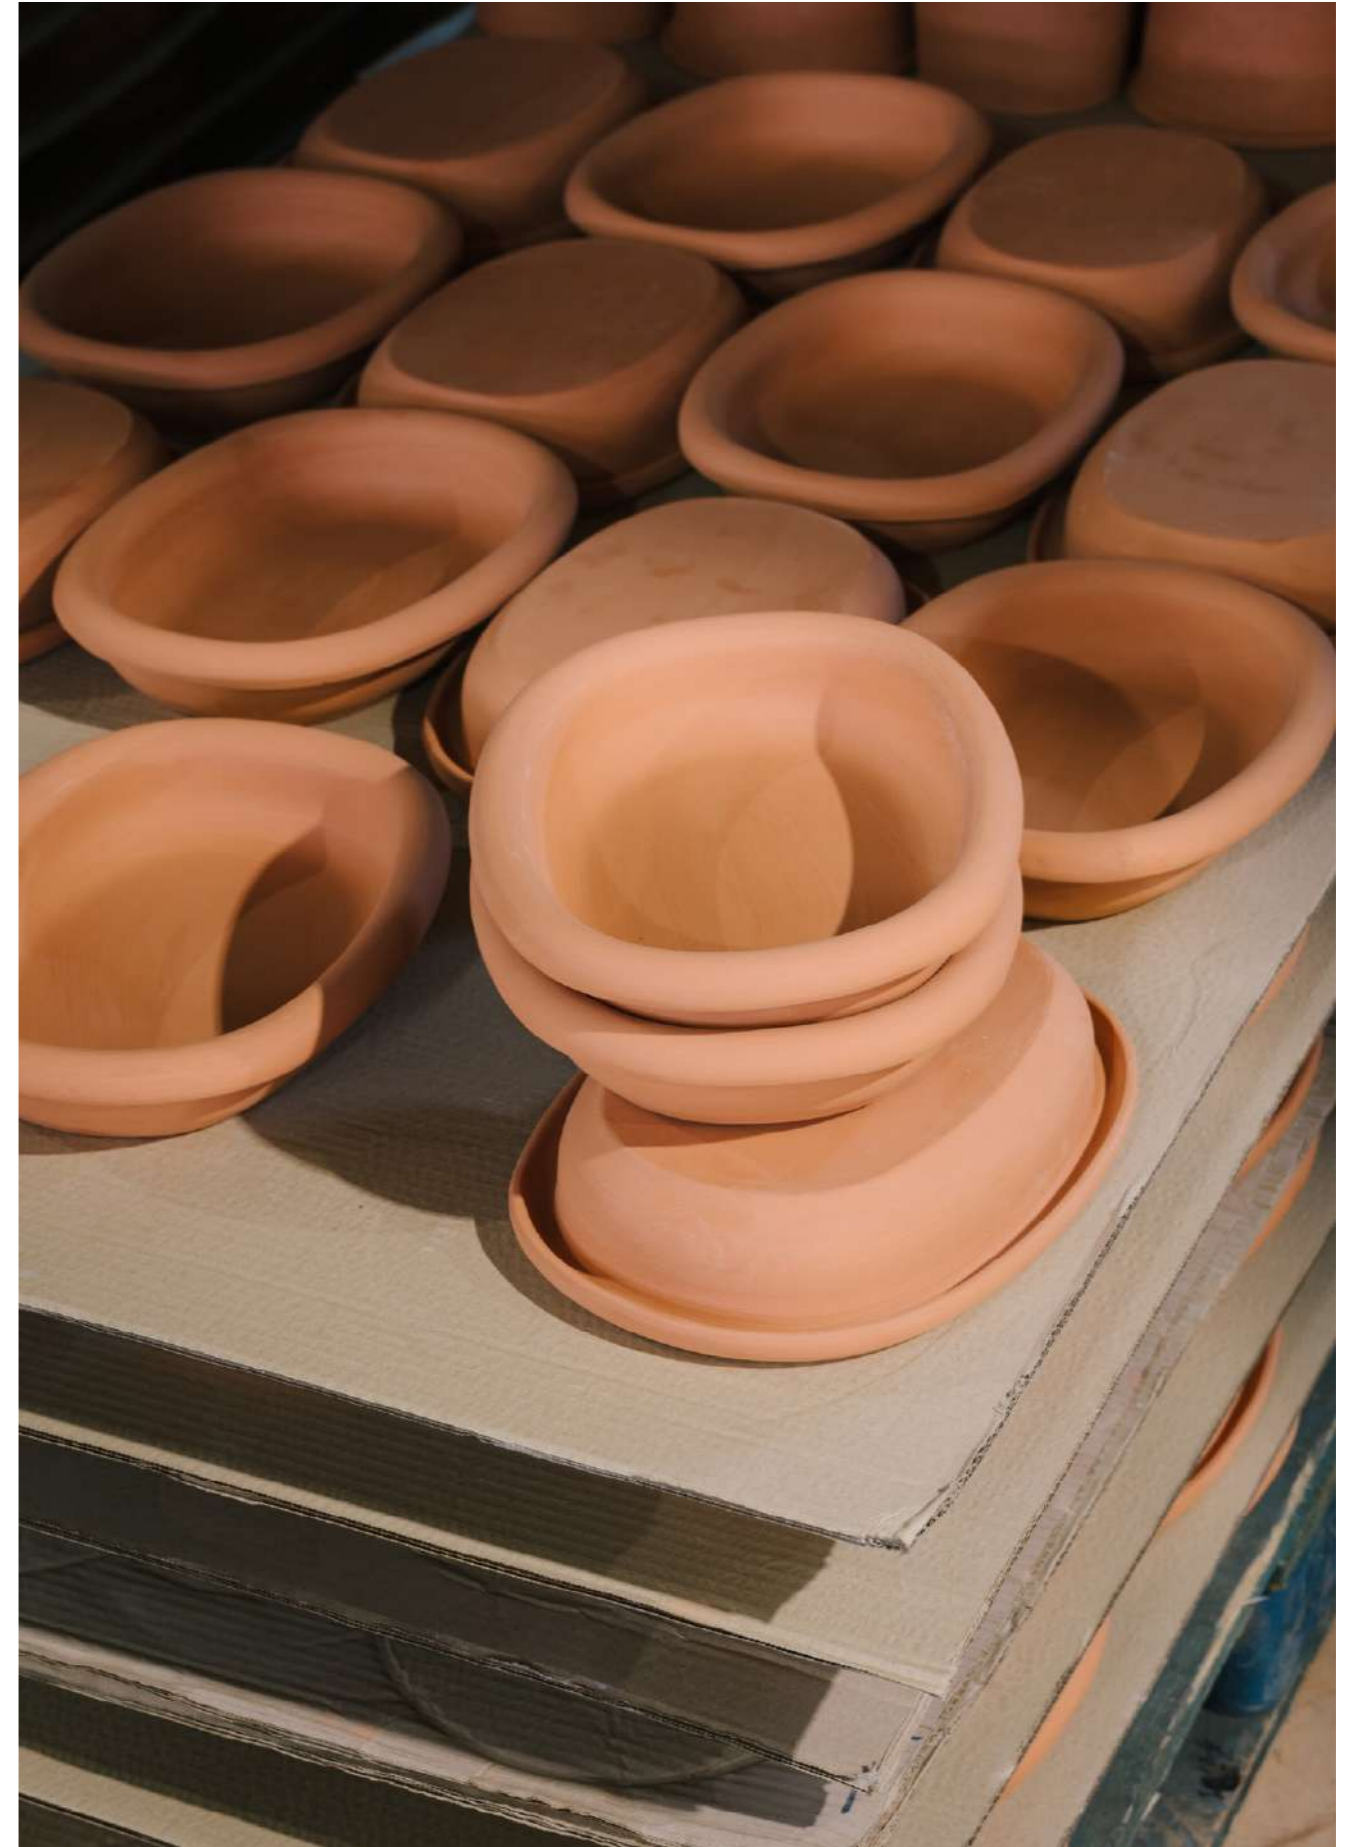

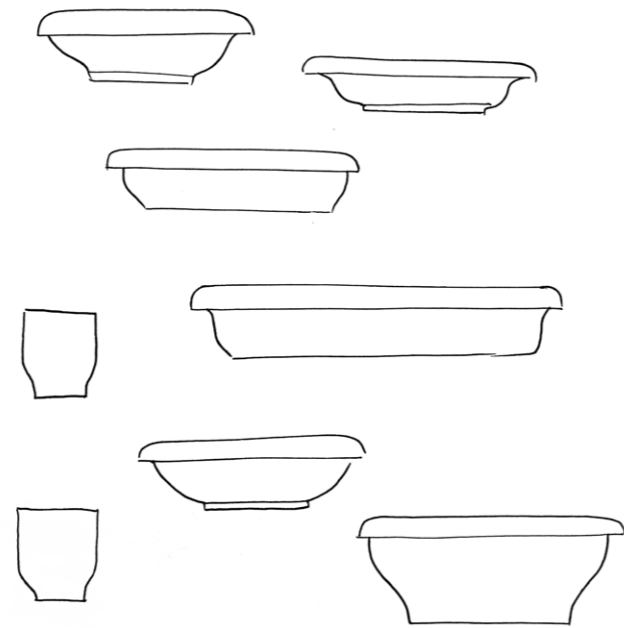

Barro Collection

Barro is crafted in Portugal using handmade moulds – seen here, the mould being made for the Oval Dish Large.

Barro tableware are being pressed into shape to create the individual plates, bowls, and cups.

The Oval Dish Small is seen here after it has been fired, before being finished with glazing or hand painted details.

MVS Cutlery Design by Muller Van Severen

The latest addition to HAY's ongoing design collaboration with Belgian designers Muller Van Severen, MVS Cutlery and Serving Spoons use pared-back design language and considered use of colour to create this collection of distinctive and functional mealtime utensils.

The combination of brushed stainless steel and painted handles creates a strong visual contrast that can be amplified by mixing up the designs, bringing a modern and elegant expression to everyday table settings.
