ABOUT US

The University of London is a federal university consisting of a number of self-governing colleges and other smaller research institutes of outstanding reputation. It is one of the oldest, largest and most diverse universities in the UK. It was established by Royal Charter in 1836 and is recognised globally as a world leader in higher education.

Stay Central offers a great range of accommodation options, from single and double rooms with breakfast to 3 bedroom self-catered apartments, in superb central London locations just a few minutes walk from London's most iconic attractions. All rooms are located in the University of London's Halls of Residence, whilst our apartments are situated in self-contained residential buildings in the historic Bloomsbury area. Whether you are here for business or leisure, we have a place to suit your needs.

College Hall was opened in 1882 in Byng Place to provide accommodation for the rising numbers of female students at the University of London. It was recognised as a hall of residence for women students by the Senate of the University of London in 1910. In 1932 it was recognised that the Byng Place site was not large enough for a proposed new hall and moved to its current site on Malet Street.

The Hall is centrally located with major attractions within walking distance or a short bus or tube ride away. For your convenience, we have included some useful advice about getting around the city.

INSIDE BLOOMSBURY

Bloomsbury is the literary and academic district of central London, historically patronised by an impressive tableau of celebrated writers and artists, including the novelist Virginia Woolf, poet T.S. Eliot, and artist Roger Fry.

At its centre sits Russell Square, named for the Russell family of the 17th and 18th centuries whose investment in the area transformed it into the fashionable residential and cultural locale it is today. Additional gardens, such as Tavistock Square, Torrington Place and Gordon Square are pleasant, quiet places to sit and relax, all within walking distance of the Hall.

Also worth noting are the numerous research hospitals and healthcare institutes, housed typically in grand buildings of Georgian architectural design, as well as the cluster of central University of London campuses; academic bodies which enjoy an almost unrivalled international prestige, each able to boast global recognition in its respective field.

As well as being the city's largest and most famous scholarly area, the accessibility of the West End's theatres, cinemas, shopping attractions, and other famous metropolitan landmarks truly make Bloomsbury feel like the epicentre of the city. The trendy bars, cafés and restaurants that line the streets all contribute to the lively, friendly and diverse atmosphere of the area, while internationally renowned institutions like the British Museum and the British Library are within a stone's throw and certainly worth a visit while in London.

GETTING AROUND LONDON

London Underground – The ‘Tube’

The tube covers the whole city, is easy to use and is usually the quickest way to travel. Travelcards – for daily, weekly or monthly use – are the most economical way of getting around the city as they give you unlimited travel within your chosen zones. Besides the tube, travelcards cover all bus journeys and travelling by train within your zones. The closest tube stations are Russell Square, King’s Cross St Pancras, Goodge Street, Warren Street, Euston Square and Euston.

Red London Buses

These are one of the sights of the capital and can be used to travel across most parts of London.

It is a slower alternative to the tube but has more regular stops in more residential areas and certainly has more interesting views – <http://www.tfl.gov.uk/tfl/gettingaround/maps/buses/>. For further information on public transport please visit www.tfl.gov.uk.

Black cabs

These taxis are licensed and can be hailed from the roadside when the yellow ‘For Hire’ light is on. For your own safety, never use an unlicensed minicab or taxi.

You can hire a car, but the congestion charge (<https://tfl.gov.uk/modes/driving/congestion-charge>), parking fees and sheer volume of traffic make it advisable to use public transport instead.

Please note that University of London does not have parking facilities.

Bicycle Hire

A Transport for London bicycle hire station is located opposite Student Central on Malet Street. Cycling in London can be very dangerous and we strongly advise you to wear suitable protective and high visibility clothing including a helmet, and to use cycle paths where possible. Details of cycle paths can be found at www.sustrans.org.uk, and further details about cycling in Camden can be found at www.camden.gov.uk.

National Rail and Eurostar

Euston, King’s Cross, and St Pancras national rail/mainline stations are all within 15 minutes’ walk of College Hall. St Pancras is also the main Eurostar terminal, for international connections to Paris and Brussels (passports and/or visas may be required).

For tickets and timetables: www.nationalrail.co.uk and www.eurostar.com.
