

MODERN LUXURY

MANHATTAN

LIFE STYLE
NYC'S SARTORIAL
STARS

+

FALL'S
FANTASTICAL
LOOKS

BANK ON IT

TYRA BANKS
SERVES SUCCESS WITH A SMILE

FEATURING GOTHAM
MAGAZINE INSIDE

"Diane Kordas is a favorite for jewelry."
18K rose gold Armour ring with diamonds,
dianekordasjewellery.com

"I love this Jonathan Adler trinket tray!"
Eyes valet tray,
jonathanadler.com

"This book from Assouline makes me want to fly to Capri as soon as the pandemic passes." Capri Dolce Vita by Cesare Gnanaccia, assouline.com

FALL IN LOVE

This is a September like we've never seen before. Fall in Manhattan is normally so alive with the newest New York Fashion Week collections and the back-to-school bustle, but most of our favorite institutions are now filled with uncertainty. However, for this issue, our editors focus on all the beauty that the city still has to offer as it starts to awaken.

In our fashion features, we photographed the latest trends on mannequins instead of models, and illustrator Manuel Santelices masterfully shows off the best looks of a season unlike any other before. Our restaurant review spotlights Da Toscano, a new Italian eatery that has just reopened for outdoor dining, and the Lifestyle Guide looks at new Japanese dining options. And as always, our Now in NYC page highlights the best new experiences that the city has to offer, from a watch collaboration inspired by the seasons to fabulous skincare treatments.

As you support our local businesses and venture out for socially distanced activities, we wish you a happy and safe season, New York. Enjoy the issue!

Lynn A. Scotti
President & Group Publisher
lscotti@modernluxury.com
Instagram: @lsknyc

"The simplicity of this dress is somehow what makes it an attention-grabber." Johanna Ortiz Ember Of A New World puffed-sleeve crepe dress, modasoperandi.com

"This Book tote is an original style from Creative Director Maria Grazia Chiuri." Dior Book tote with Dioramour graffiti, dior.com

"Diane Kordas is a favorite for jewelry." 18K rose gold Armour ring with diamonds, dianekordasjewellery.com

"I love this Jonathan Adler trinket tray!" Eyes valet tray, jonathanadler.com

"This book from Assouline makes me want to fly to Capri as soon as the pandemic passes." Capri Dolce Vita by Cesare Cunaccia, assouline.com

FALL IN LOVE

This is a September like we've never seen before. Fall in Manhattan is normally so alive with the newest New York Fashion Week collections and the back-to-school bustle, but most of our favorite institutions are now filled with uncertainty. However, for this issue, our editors focus on all the beauty that the city still has to offer as it starts to awaken.

In our fashion features, we photographed the latest trends on mannequins instead of models, and illustrator Manuel Santelices masterfully shows off the best looks of a season unlike any other before. Our restaurant review spotlights Da Toscano, a new Italian eatery that has just reopened for outdoor dining, and the Lifestyle Guide looks at new Japanese dining options. And as always, our Now in NYC page highlights the best new experiences that the city has to offer, from a watch collaboration inspired by the seasons to fabulous skincare treatments.

As you support our local businesses and venture out for socially distanced activities, we wish you a happy and safe season, New York. Enjoy the issue!

Lynn A. Scotti
President & Group Publisher
lscotti@modernluxury.com
Instagram: @lskny

"The simplicity of this dress is somehow what makes it an attention-grabber." Johanna Orsz Ember Of A New World puffed-sleeve crepe dress, modaoperandi.com

"This Book tote is an original style from Creative Director Maria Grazia Chiuri." Dior Book tote with Dioramour graffiti, dior.com

