FOR THE HOME

NO PLACE LIKE HOME

Linens, ceramics, plants and prints. Inside ideas for those who try to do it in style.

California photography

Take advantage of Pure Photo's curatorial eye to bring an infusion of West Coast style to your home The company's new Best of the West offerings include pieces by California artists such as Alexandra Naumova and Jin-Woo Prensena. From $200.

Table linens

Venice resident Emma Wingfield co-founded Five | Six Textiles to help support a weaving cooperative she met while traveling in Côte d'Ivoire. Each collection is a product of a collaborative design process, with napkins and table runners that present both a sense of tradition and a fresh aesthetic take. Sold online and at 503 Found at 503 31st St., Newport Beach. From $75. fiveandsixtextiles.com

Rule of Three coasters

From her Arts District studio, marble artist and designer Paige Cleveland of Rule of Three has reinvented complex marbling techniques to apply this old tradition to contemporary home goods and accessories. Leather coasters provide a just taste of Rule of Three's output but make a big impact on any table. $85 per set of four. ruleofthreestudio.com

Burl wood vases

Bay Area artisan Melanie Abrantes Designs considers the inherent qualities in the raw materials she works with to make pieces that are truly one of a kind. Her beautifully textured buckeye burl wood vases are stocked at Kin & Kind at 3229 1/2, Glendale Blvd. in Atwater Village, and online. From $60, melanieabrantes.com

T.O.R.C.H. candles

T.O.R.C.H. Candles
T.O.R.C.H. (Thoughts of Rich Choices and Habits) is dedicated to pursuing the most eco-friendly and sustainable components, using coconut wax for its locally hand-poured candles. Repurpose the metallic-finished glass container to keep the holiday vibes going long after you've enjoyed the juniper, pine, herbs and balsam fir scents, $65 torchla.com

Marble entertaining set

The national lifestyle and decor brand's newest Palisades Village outpost — 1067 S. Swarthmore Ave., Pacific Palisades — is an immersive experience in sophisticated coastal chic with a much larger inventory than the West Hollywood location. The Costa entertaining set's two small marble bowls and wood spoons nestled into a compact base seamlessly slides into any tabletop tableau, $48, serenaandlilu,con

Trigon serving bowl

Ceramicists Adi Mizrahi and Ron Hellmann incorporate playful geometry and stunning colorways into their locally made wares:

Kissweh pillows

Downtown L.A. denisen Claudia Martinez Mansell has partnered with a secular NGO in Lebanon to import the handiwork of Palestinian refugee embroiderers to the U.S. These dazzlingly intricate, bold needlework textiles are fashioned into pillows, and sold via Kissweh's website, as well as locally at Heath Ceramics (7525 Beverly Blvd.) and the Hammer Museum Store (10899 Wilshire Blvd.) From $320. kissweh.com

Water pitcher

Mud Australia just celebrated the one-year anniversary of its Los Angeles brick-and-mortar presence —8216 W. 3rd St. — where the company's porcelain ceramics are showcased. Its water jug is an elegant and practical accessory designed with the expert input of chef David Chang. $172. us.mudaustralia.co

Cutting boards

Bad Neighbor boards' elegant silhouettes and silky smooth surfaces made from maple, walnut and poplar woods are a perfect canvas for your holiday cheese and charcuterie spread. Check out the Arts District studio's tems in person at Unique L.A.'s Santa Monica holiday market in December, at Spoonfed at 959 Seward St. in Hollywood, and online. From $75. badneighbor.co

Deluxe emergency kit

Fresh plant delivery

The Bouge online florist, founded in Venice, has a selection of gifts that hang around for longer than fresh flowers. Pick from an air plant tucked into a wall-hanging pocket or a set of succulents in eclectic yet coordinated ceramic vessels. From $46.bouqs.com

Singular prints

San Francisco architect and artist Michael Murphy channels his love Michael Murphy channels his love of California's design heritage into boldly graphic and fun limited-edition, signed and numbered prints. His "Supersonic" and "Forgotten Modernism" series depict iconic L.A. locations along with other Golden State tressures. From Golden State treasures. From

Crystals for beginners

Experts Heather Askinosie and Timmi Jandro help demystify the use of crystals, especially for beginners. You'll find starter kits at Energy Muse's shop in Torrance

— 2301 W. 205th St. #103 — and online. Prices vary.

A throw to hold

Presented under the self-evidently descriptive banner Tactile Matter Altadena-based artist and maker Kenesha Sneed's work begs to be touched. Find a throw, emblazoned with one of Sneed's original designs, on her website and at Otherwild at 1768 N. Vermont Ave. in Los Feliz. $210.

Hedley & Bennett & Parachute potholder

L.A. culinary wear powerhouse Ellen Bennett of Hedley & Bennett teamed with local bedding maven Ariel Kaye on a line of linen and cotton kitchen textiles. Safe home cooking never looked this stylish. $29. hedleyandbennett.com, parachutehome.com

California Lustre drink stirrers

Up your holiday cocktail presentation game with California Lustre's accessories, all designed with celebrating SoCal in mind. Themes include Palm Springs and other lighthearted midcentury Cali imagery and are available in multiple colors at select West Elm stores and online. $16 per set. californialustre.com

Plant hangers

Give your hanging plants an extra earthy boost while getting in DIY activity with macrame hanger kits conceived and assembled by fiber artist Elsie Goodwin of Reform Fibers in Chino Hills. Each set comes with instructions and materials to make your hanger. From $38. reformfibers.com