The Thomas Fuchs Creative collection.

Thomas Fuchs, for all intents and purposes, lives and breathes art. This designer, whose Fine Arts background and colorful career catapulted him to launching his home collection at Saks, says his passion comes through in his pieces and his twist on tradition is incorporated into everything he does. And on top of that? He loves being green. "Not only am I green with my designs, I'm also eco-conscious with my personal lifestyle," Fuchs tells SaksPOV, as he preps for Earth Day on April 22. "Traveling to different countries makes me more conscious of being green. I am constantly searching for factories that give back to their communities or are focused on recycling and eco-friendly efforts." Alongside business partner Michou Mahtani, Fuchs developed Thomas Fuchs Creative, which currently includes four distinct collections: Remains, Moderne, Candle Holders and Glasses. All collections employ traditional artistic processes, such as lost wax, glass blowing and hand carving.
