February 2012

The show is posted! Painting: Color Dominates

We looked for paintings which feature color as the dominant element of design. Color sets the mood, color makes the statement, color controls the message.

There was an embarrassment of riches from which to choose: well over 600 pieces of art submitted from over 200 artists.

Each artist's name links to more work.
The entire show is visible on the blog now.
