#2 - Toi Māori Cirque

Most recently Dust Palace's artistic productions have been in collaboration with Te Rēhia Theatre and Te Pou Theatre.

Te Tangi a te Tūī, their full length collaborative Māori cirque-theatre premiered in Vancouver, Canada and sold out its season in the Auckland Arts Festival.

This package would begin with aerial installation on three 'Rakau' placed down the room.

The central act would be a dance, waiata, acrobatic infusion.

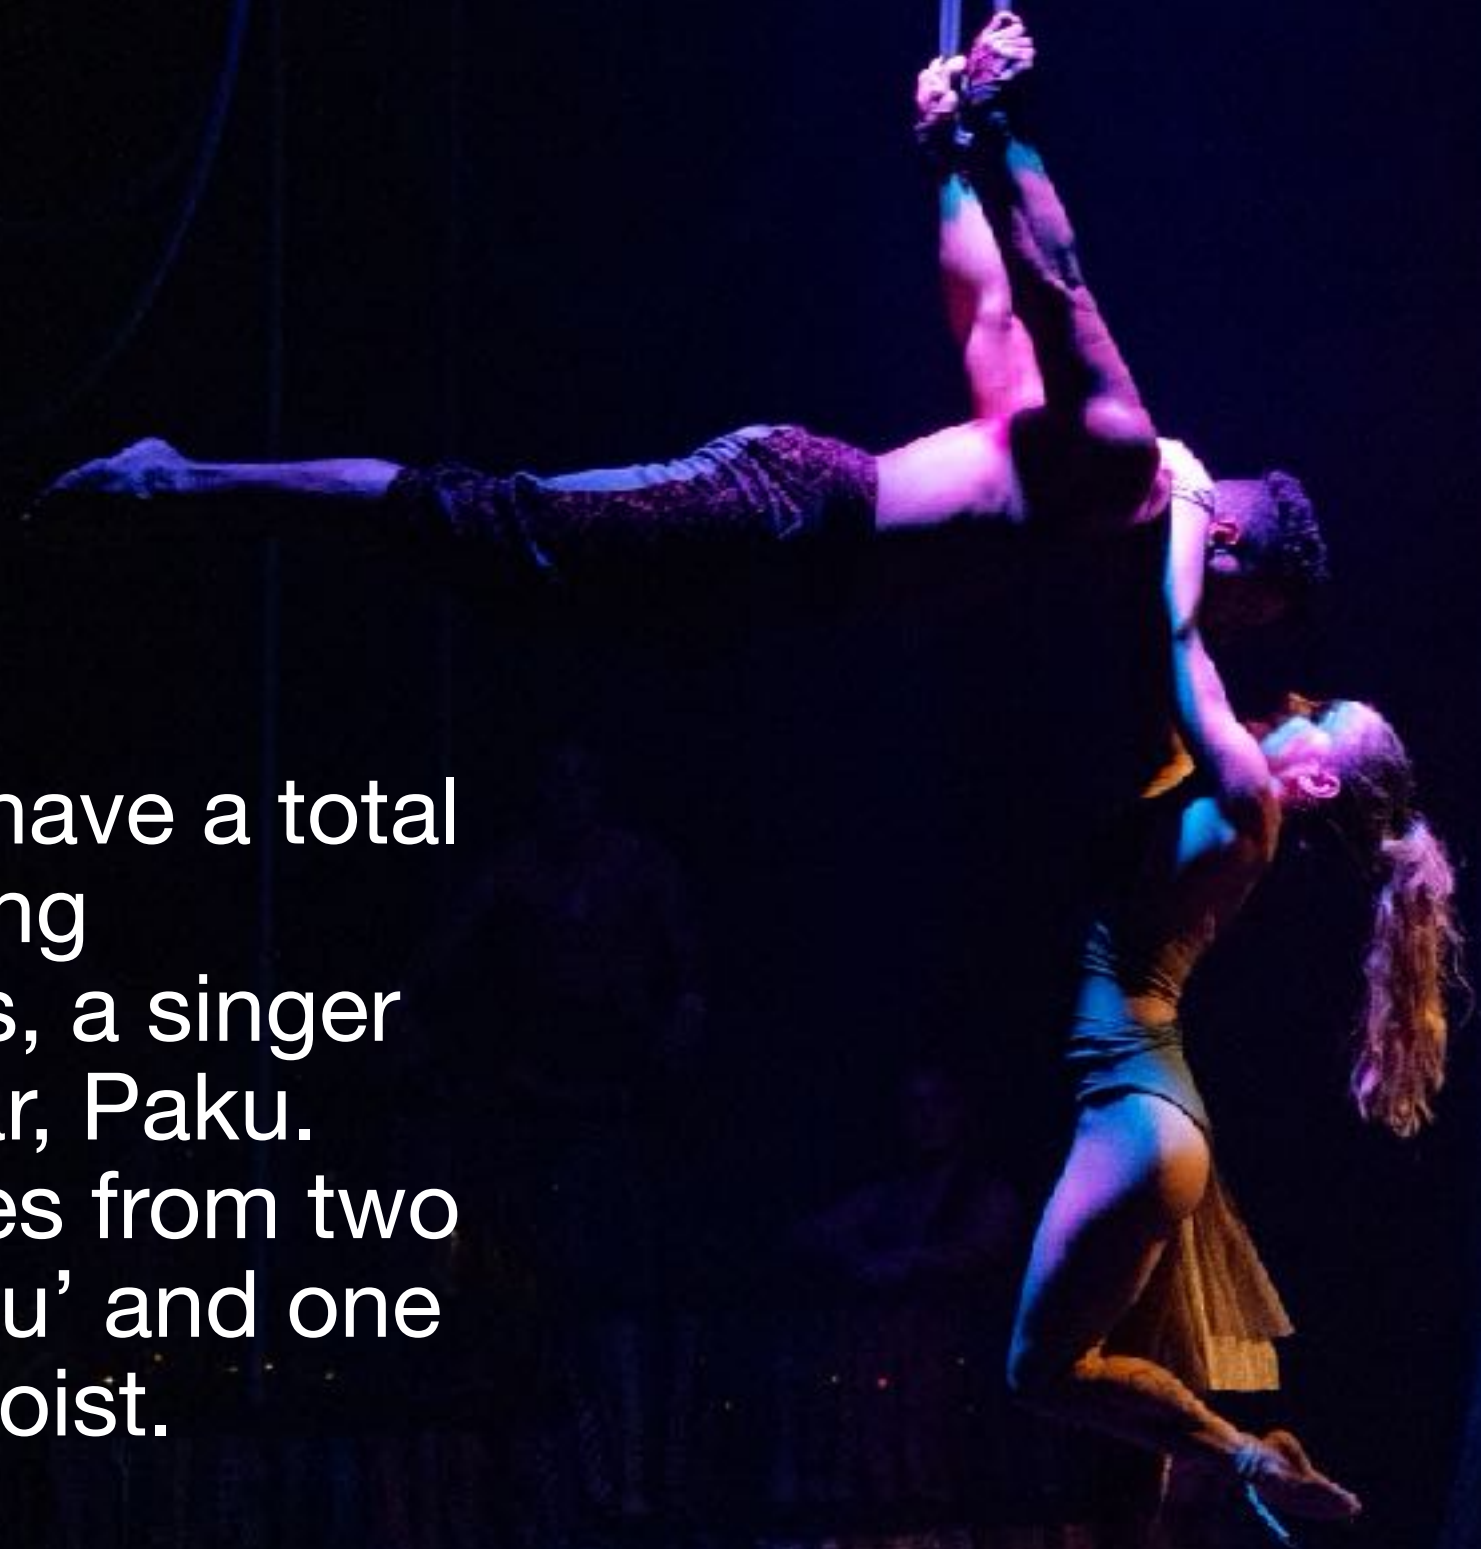

The aerial finale would be an intricate and dynamic duo straps act between our patupaiarehe and tane characters.

RAKAU

This show would have a total cast of five stunning acrobat / aerialists, a singer and our young star, Paku. This show operates from two static rigged 'rakau' and one motorized chain hoist.

The performer is wearing a bright red, sequined, one-shoulder dress and is in a horizontal pose with arms extended upwards and legs spread wide. A spotlight illuminates the performer from above, creating a bright beam of light. The straps are attached to a metal ring at the top.

#3 - Clean and Contemporary

With a slightly more financially-reserved look, this package is our least expensive whilst of course still holding the wow-factor and energy required.

This package begins with a solo aerial installation on a bar or horizontal apparatus of your choice; lyra, aerial chair, aerial cube... the list goes on...

AERIAL CHAIR

The central act is a chair balance act, achieving height and excitement for the audience with only two performers onstage.

CHAIR STACKING

The finale act here is a fast-spinning, virtuosic aerial hoop (lyra) solo performed by one of Aotearoa's most incredible artists.

LYRA

This show would have a total cast of three aerialists and operate from a single motorized rigging point.
