

Polka-Dot Plant

Hypoestes phyllastachya

This is a wonderfully bright little plant! Its small, numerous leaves are dotted with splashes of pink, red, or white -- sometimes so extensively that it's almost like the green is the polka dots! There are only two tricky parts to keeping this plant happy - keeping it moist enough, and finding the right balance of light!

LIGHTING

You'll need to find medium light for this one. Too much light will reduce the colouration of the leaves, while not enough light will make it leggy and unattractive!

WATERING

Polka-dot Plants definitely need to be kept consistently moist at all times - otherwise they will drop leaves like there's no tomorrow!

HUMIDITY

Polka-dot plants need higher-than-average humidity to truly be happy. Run a humidifier nearby!

FUN FACTS

Polka-dot plants can sometimes flower - their purple flowers look a lot like honeysuckle! Despite this, the easiest way to make babies is to plant cuttings, not seeds.
