FDE001 Ford Thames 400E Van – British Railways

Ford has been synonymous with commercial vans but took a great step forward in the light van evolution in the mid 1950s, when Ford of Britain introduced the Ford Thames 400E. Over 187000 were made over the ensuing 10 years, before it was superseded in 1965.

Our 1:43 scale replica, with sliding side door feature (non-working) comes in the famous British Railways two tone cream and crimson lake livery of the period, complete with detailed 'chrome' petrol cap, wheel hubs and door handles, with its fleet number on the door.

One of London's most unique charity events takes place each year when a convoy of licensed London taxis take over 200 children, suffering from a range of chronic debilitating illnesses and life limiting conditions, on a three-day trip of a lifetime to Disneyland Resort Paris. This Magical Taxi Tour has bought moments of great joy and happiness to sick children. This amazing convoy, can be over three miles long when running and consists of 90 plus taxis, City of London Police escorts, Gendarmerie Nationale, London Ambulance NHS Trust vehicles and AA breakdown trucks.

Organised by the Worshipful Company of Hackney Carriage Drivers, this year the event takes place on the 23rd- 25th

September and is only possible with the help of sponsors who give generously towards the expenses of hotel, fuel, food, admission charges etc. The taxi drivers naturally give freely of their time and use of their vehicles. Some of these youngsters have since died, but with your help we are determined to give more children this once in a lifetime opportunity and we are donating proceeds of the sales of these taxis to this worthwhile event.

NTR001 Tram in London Transport livery

The first release off the newly tooled Oxford Diecast 'N' gauge tram emerges this month and it is appropriate that the first introduction should come in the highly collectable and very popular London Transport livery.

The Oxford tooling is based on the famous Dick Kerr Tram – a classic British tram design, which was the most common tram seen on Britain's tramways until the 1950s. They came in various types, including the fully closed version, where the tram and driver's cab were enclosed; the semi enclosed tram, which left the driver's cab open; and finally the open tram, which had no protection at all against the weather. Within that framework, however, the Dick Kerr Company, which had its operations in both Preston and Kilmarnock, designed many variations including the double-deck and single deck tram.

As they were used by towns and cities throughout the UK, there are many exciting liveries to choose from in a wide range of colour schemes, which gives this new Oxford introduction so much scope in the future release programme.

As the tram was in use until the 1950s, this N gauge model will also look at home on railway layouts covering a wide period between 1930 and 1960.

The Jaguar Mark VII was a large four door sports sedan launched by Jaguar Cars of Coventry at the 1950 London Motor Show. The chassis came from the Jaguar Mark V with which the Mark VII shared its 10 feet (3,048.0 mm) wheelbase. But for this latest offering Jaguar designed a modern and streamlined looking body, featuring fully integrated headlights and mudguards along with an increased rear overhang which gave the car enhanced presence. As on the Mark V, the upper part of the rear wheels was covered by the body work. In place of its predecessor's flat windscreen, the Mark VII design included a two piece front screen, which would later become one when the MKVIII was launched. It had a speed of just over 100 mph (163 km/h) and could accelerate from 0-60 mph in 13.7 seconds -17.5 miles to the gallon and all for just under £1700.

The first Land Rover prototype was built in the summer of 1947, and all the early prototypes had a tractor-like centrally-mounted steering wheel. This was done to save money building separate left- and right-hand drive models for export. However, by the time the production Land Rover appeared in 1948, the centre-steer idea had been scrapped. The Land Rover range was improved and expanded over the years to meet customers (both civilian and military) demands, and to exploit gaps in the market. Our second release is HUE166 which was the plate of the first Land Rover and is an 80inch wheelbase model. It appears in it's reconditioned form at the museum in Gaydon.

Decorated in signature Land Rover green with similar wheel trim, it comes in exactly the same format to fit on the Leyland car transporter and trailer. You could do with a few of these Land Rovers, to fill up the trailer. Due to the lower bottom deck height, don't expect some of our other variant of Land Rovers to fit. You can fit 4 Land Rovers on the front section and 4 on the rear.

body. You can also add as many Land Rovers as you like to load onto your Transporter, creating further realism. Under model number 76LAN180005, the Land Rovers are decorated in plain Bronze Green. These are shown. A word of warning for those who try and fit earlier versions of the Land Rover on the transporters, they won't fit below deck - because they are not meant to. You can see on the pictures opposite how the Land Rovers were loaded on to the rear trailer, up over the cab. True to the original, the top deck of the main unit can be posed in two positions. We've even thrown in a few ramps which can be found under the plinth. TAFF

CHANGE OF ADDRESS/POSTAL CHARGES

From the last Globe our club/internet orders are being handled from a special unit in Southampton - the address and telephone are on the front cover/order form. From here we will be able to answer calls 7 days a week and despatch within a few days of receiving orders. The Swansea operation will still continue as our Head Office, we also opened up an international distribution unit in Swansea last year. Geraldine and Sue will remain at the Swansea office, but club orders should be sent to the new address. We also have to accommodate the increases in postage charges and also the increased size of some of our models. So postage will be charged at £1 before discount for every £10 ordered, (£2 for European orders and £3 for orders outside of Europe). I have decided to leave the multi- purchasing as it is at this time.

This latest book is right up my street. I have just had my copy and as always I can't put it down, reading cover to cover. British Hearse takes us through the history of these interesting vehicles leaving no stone unturned. Hearses have such character and many of the later vehicles share bodyparts (pun) with the standard variants. It seems a shame that Oxford only has one hearse in the range - so who knows perhaps in the future we will have something to add to the range. TAFF

MESSAGE FROM TAFF

Just an update on our development plans. We seem to be falling a bit behind, so it is time for a bit of catching up.

1:76

A further new range Oxford Showtime is in development, the first models will include a Burrell Showman Locomotive and a Scammell Showtrac. To the Military range, Bedford MWD, AEC Matador which starts releasing later this year, we are adding a Bedford OWB. This will release firstly in Royal Navy colours and we will await reaction to decide if we extend into other bus subject matters.

There are many cars in development, we have tried to cover various eras already announcing earlier in the year a Citroen 2CV, Renault Dauphine, Land Rover Discovery VW Beetle.

Outstanding are the SS Jaguar (nightmare) , Rover P6 and the Wolseley 18/85 (nightmare). We are also working on the Bentley S1 and Bentley Mulsanne.

The commercials have suffered the most, in part this is due to the greater engineering time that we are spending on the models. Five years ago, it took us around 4 weeks, now it is 8 weeks as we attempt to add more detail and in the case of the modern aerial fire engines functionality. Anyway caught up in this are the Bedford Heavy 12, Austin ATV and Pump trailers. they have been rescheduled for later this year. We are working on a David Brown tractor and a Field Marshall tractor. The Dennis RS is scheduled for first off shots with an unannounced Fire Engine in July.

We are finally seeing the first Thames 400E. Second shots on the Bentley S1 and Royal Daimler (beautiful) are due in June. We are also working on a Jaguar XK150, fixed head and roadster versions. A modern commercial has just started development

1:148

Additional developments include a Morris Minor saloon and Bristol Lodekka. Still scheduled are the Burlingham Coach, Plaxton Coach, Citroen 2CV, Mini, Ferguson Tractor, Fordson tractor, Beetle and bay window VW.

The new higher spec Tiger Moth and Dragon Rapide are in development and we will add the fairy Swordfish, and Arado AR196 to our standard range.
