Self Health Check up

- It is a do-it-yourself health assessment online to check your own health condition.
- With increasing healthcare costs, most people do not need or even want to see a doctor, but they do want to have more health information about certain health concerns or symptoms that they may have.
- As a reliable source of health information, Self Health Care Online serves as an intermediary service between patients and their doctors, to give consumers detailed and personal health information online at home, without a visit to their doctor.
- Self Health Care Online does not diagnose, treat or prescribe for medical conditions, and it does not serve as a substitute for a licensed medical provider who can perform a thorough, hands-on medical examination. But it will obtain your self reported health information and provide you with a Progress Note with important health questions, your self reported answers and blood test results that help you better understand your own health condition and symptoms. It is a do-it-yourself, self health care check up online 24/7.
