FEATURES

The all new BAKER Cruise Drive Top Cover is yet another example from our staff of designers and engineers of Function Formed brilliance. We have added the retro ribs that we are known for to complement the stock transmission case and vacuum wrapped the top cover to the transmission components underneath. The all billet, 3-D CNC machined piece adds style to your ride that the stock part just couldn't muster. 12 pt Stainless ARP Fasteners, and a fully polished, chrome plated finish are standard issue. This kit includes an already installed vent fitting and a new top cover gasket.

FITMENT (for P/N DD7-105C-KIT)

- 2006-09 Dyna®
- 2007-09 Softail®
- 2007-09 Touring

INSTALLATION

- 1) Remove the stock top cover and gasket and set aside.
- 2) Remove the rubber vent tube from your old top cover and slide it into place on the new BAKER Top Cover
- 3) Wipe down and inspect the gasket surface of the transmission case to make sure that it is free of thread lock debris, oil residue and any other matter to promote full gasket contact with the new top cover in place.
- 4) Place the new top cover on the transmission making sure to put the gasket in place. Torque the 6 provided 1/4-20 x .750 bolts to 130 in-lbs using 'Blue' Thread Lock. Reference the above diagram (Figure 1) for torque sequence. Don't worry, you aren't missing parts. The boss on the bottom of the top cover is for the linear shift drum detent used with the DD7 gearset. The stock Cruise Drive 6 speed uses a door mounted detent and this empty boss will not be a show stopper.
