

Sandals arrive like this (may have heel strap jacket depending on model).

Pull up on inner strap (A) (on inside of foot, (A)) to loosen heel strap (C).

Pull up on outer strap (B) to loosen toe strap (D).

Center your foot on the sandal so that your toes and heel do not hang off. Find a comfortable position.

Remove your foot. Pull down on outer strap (B) to take the slack out of the toe strap (D).

NOTE ON 2

Leave enough slack so that you can position the buckle (E) to about the middle of the top of your foot.

You may have to check this several times by removing your foot, adjusting the outer strap, and then checking again by putting your foot back in the sandal.

Put your foot back in the sandal.

Tighten the heel strap (C) by pulling down on the inner strap (A) until the lacing is snug against your heel.

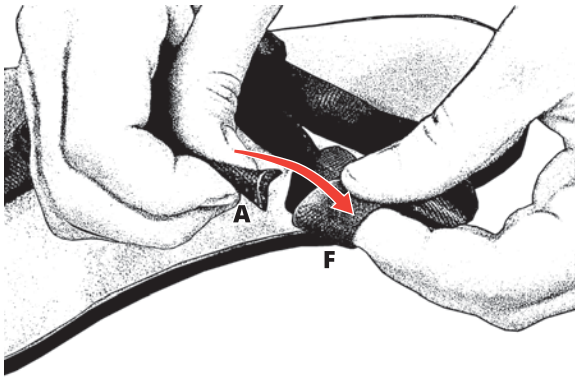

Step 4 finished

Take your foot out.

Wrap the end of the inner strap (A) back towards the heel and around the strap on the inside of the foot.

The hook and loop (G) surface should be facing away from your foot.

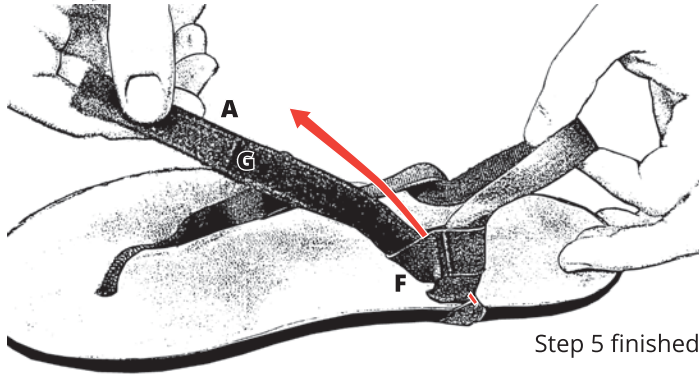

5

Fold the end of the inner strap (A) into a taco shape and insert it into the Heel Strap Helper (F). The Heel Strap Helper is the double loop piece that looks like a bowtie.

NOTE ON 5

Insert the inner strap (A) into the bottom of the Heel Strap Helper (F) and pull upwards.

The hook and loop (G) should be facing away from your foot.

Step 5 finished

6

Put your foot back in sandal.

Pull the inner strap (A) across your foot, and insert it into the buckle (E) from underneath. Wrap the strap around the buckle and fasten the hook and loop to your desired tightness.

7

For further adjustments, tighten or loosen the inner strap (A), or slide the buckle (E) towards your toe or ankle.

Different people prefer different buckle locations: Some people prefer a high collar and some prefer to ride the buckle all the way to the toe -

Experiment and find what your feet like best!

YOU'RE DONE. HAPPY TRAILS!
