

Dragon Gets Bored

One day during playtime with Floof, their small friend, Dragon felt all the playing had come to an end.

There were no new toys. The games had been won. No kins played around them. Their fun felt all done.

Dragon didn't like having nothing to do and felt restless and bad as their boredom grew.

"I'm tired of sitting," Dragon said with a sigh, "perhaps, we'll find something fun if we fly through the sky."

Dragon traveled with Floof in search of some joy, but all they could find was an old, broken toy.

The two kept on searching. With each thing they found, Dragon said, "No! That's just trash on the ground."

Lying down in the grass, Dragon looked at the clouds. "I give up! I'm SO bored!" they grumbled out loud.

The more Dragon watched the clouds in the air, all sorts of things began to appear.

A castle! A rocket! What else could they find? Dragon saw many things just by using their mind.

"That's it!" Dragon yelled and jumped up really fast. "We'll make our own fun from the things that we passed!" ✨

"The fun was already here, I just couldn't see... the power to CREATE was always inside me!"

Back home with Floof, Dragon used what they had and built something new from all the doodads.

Dragon gave a big smile to their floofy playmate. Being bored wasn't bad— it helped them to create!

Dragon reminds us about the power inside. When you feel bored, let these words be your guide.

I feel bored. That's okay.
There is so much I can do.
I can use how I feel to create something new.