

Unicorn

Let Your Light Shine

My dear Unicorn,
this might make you squeal,
but I'm telling you now,
magic is REAL!

You have your own magic inside of your heart.
It shines like a light,
and sets you apart.

Your light helps you sparkle.
It shows you the way.
it tells you what feels
the most fun to play.

Your light will be there,
in the good days and bad.
It can help lift you up
when you feel sad.

Trust in your light,
and the magic you see.
I'll believe it too,
because you're special to me.

Sharing your magic
can help your light glow.
Do you know any ways
you can help your light show?

You can show off your light by the things that you do and the things that you say.
What feels right to you?

You might choose to put
a flower in your hair.
You might have certain colors
that you like to wear.

There are so many ways
to shine bright and strong.
Just keep being you
and you can't go wrong.

Embrace your magic!
Be BRAVE and be BOLD!
Show off your true self for all to behold!

There may be times,
you decide not to shine,
that's okay, too,
your heart knows the right time.

Your magic's still with you wherever you go.
So one day you can let it shine like a rainbow!

If you need extra help
until that day comes,
you can trust in me
and all your loved ones.

No matter the whos
or the whats or the whys,
your loved ones still love you and are your allies.

Unicorn, there is magic.
Repeat this to find the magic there is when you let your light shine!

I have my own magic—
my own inner light.
When I'm true to myself,
it shines strong and bright.