THE BEST WALL-HUNG AIRERS

TURN UP THE HEAT

These heated bars make drying a breeze and the unit is really cheap to run
Dry:Soon airer, £69.99, Lakeland

RAISE THE BAR

Simple to use, this drying rack can be adjusted into three different positions
Grundtal drying rack, £20, Ikea

MOVE UP A GEAR

Buy extra hooks for this airer and you can move it outside in dry weather
Laundry ladder, from £149, Brilliantly British

THE ADJUSTABLE DESK

Squeeze in some extra homework space with this super-smart design from Ikea. With three adjustable heights (H59cm, H66cm and H72cm), just raise the Pahl desk when your needs change or your child grows, rather than buying a bigger option. Priced from £40, it comes in two widths in all white or white with blue, green or pink legs. You can buy add-on shelving units for £15 each. Shown here in green and white with shelf unit, £65.

THE ALL-IN-ONE PAN

We saw Tom Daley using a pan like this on Instagram and now we want one! With the QuadraPan (£49.99, High Street TV), you can cut down on washing up by cooking everything in this one multitasker. It dry fries, too, so that means no need for oils, fats or butters. Weekend fry-ups will never be the same again.

THE KIDPROOF FIREGUARD

A good fireguard is a must when small children are on the loose. This adjustable design (£26.99, Argos) is the perfect solution – it extends up to W150cm.

Ideal Home tip

Upgrade your guest-bed mattress before Christmas with a Simba, from £399. It arrives compressed in a box, so there won't be a battle getting it upstairs

THE FIRESIDE KIT

Time to upgrade your fireplace tools, ready for a long winter of open fires. This classic companion set (£89.50, The Farthing) has all the essentials, and is both beautiful and useful.
