MyPlate and the Dietary Guidelines for Americans recommend replacing sugary drinks with water:

A can of soda typically contains 138 calories and 33 grams of sugar! Compare that to seltzer, which has no calories and no sugar at all!

Most people need between 95 to 110 ounces of liquids per day. Stick to unsweetened drinks whenever you can.