

Murrel Aluoch Artist Statement

My brush strokes are an emotive portrayal of all feelings captured with colors on canvas using different mediums and styles. My niche presently is acrylic on canvas; meanwhile also trying out new techniques that would contribute to creativity and uniqueness of my paintings as I grow as an artist. Most of my pieces revolve around women and children. I delve into the calm in their emotional chaos, the highs, the lows, the triumphs, the defeats, bonds, disconnects, the journey of living through life. My paintings are a blend of abstract and realism, brightly colored which to me is a representation of light, hope, growth, reason, purpose, freedom and all possible meritorious aspects of life.

Art allows me to inspire change around me, beautify the world and spaces. It allows me to connect with my inner self that I am able to express through paintings which also introduces my audience to a whole set of new ideas.
