ABOUT HELEN NORTON

Self taught artist, Helen Norton spent many years working in the remote outback in unusual occupations, before settling in Broome WA to concentrate on developing her distinctive style. Now living in the Perth Hills, Helen's work contains deeper layers of query into the human condition. She is represented in collections nationally and internationally and has participated in over 50 solo exhibitions. Well known for the use of dogs and animals in her work, Helen has been supporting the Dogs' Refuge Home since 2010. www.helennorton.com.au
