To Whom It May Concern,

The natural scrubbers in Dirt Cop are ground up walnut shells. Walnuts are categorized as tree nuts and peanuts are categorized as legumes and they are completely different. Because of these differences the walnuts do not fall into the peanut allergen category. To clarify further, the law defines eight food allergens. Those are milk, eggs, peanuts, tree nuts, fish, shell fish, soy and wheat. Because of the above, we can safely state that Dirt Cop contains no peanut allergens.
