

HOW TO CREATE SHADOW PHOTOS

It should come as no surprise that playing with Thinking Putty® is one of our favorite pastimes here at Crazy Aaron's® HQ. We're constantly discovering new and exciting ways to transform putty using everyday objects and a little creativity for good old-fashioned fun.

Tasked with developing innovative play ideas for our Glow Thinking Putty, we quickly came up with a go-to trick we know you'll love— Shadow Photos! The supply list is short and the directions are easy— all you'll need is a dark room and some imagination.

DIY SUPPLIES:

1. Glow Thinking Putty
2. Everyday objects from home (Hint: flat objects work better)
3. A Glow Charger®, lamp, or window

STEP-BY-STEP GUIDE

Stretch your Glow in the Dark Thinking Putty into a flat sheet and place little objects like keys, paper clips, or small toys on top.

Expose the putty to UV light then go into a dark room.

Remove the objects and you'll see the cool silhouette shadow "photos" you've created!
