

1. How's this for flower power? Lele Sadoughi's "Crystal Lilly" hand-cut resin earrings look amazing with virtually any gown ($198, intermix online.com).

2. Invite Mother Nature to save the date with calligrapher and artist Stephanie Fishwick's botanical designs (from $250 for a printable file, stephanie fishwick.com).

6. Yves Saint Laurent Beauté's "Face Palette Collector" compact gets skin aisle-ready: The green counteracts redness, the violet adds shimmer, the rose gives a flush, and the gold provides a bronzy glow ($60, yslbeautyus.com).

Frank Sinatra once said that orange is the happiest color. No disrespect to Ol' Blue Eyes, but we think he stopped a little short: In our opinion, every hue—from red to violet and all the shades in between—can make life's most joyous moments more personal and more vivid. These are some of our favorite ideas for new ways to color your day. —The Editors

In Love With COLOR

11.

Look no further for your something blue: Monique Lhuillier's "Karolina" floral-patterned shoes will put a (seasonally apt) spring in your step ($795, monique lhuillier.com).

12.

A former head chocolatier at New York's famed Per Se restaurant is the mastermind behind Stick With Me Sweets bonbons. They're available in countless patterns, and make for favors that are almost too cute to eat ($3.50 each, additional fee for custom designs, swmsweets.com).

3.

It's a reading rainbow! Display Penguin Classics "Drop Caps" books in place of table numbers, and later, on your bookshelves. There's a color for every letter—from A, Jane Austen, to Z, Carlos Ruiz Zafón (from $22, penguinrandomhouse.com).

7.

Graphic Image's monogrammable "Mini Envelope" card holder is a gift groomsmen will want to pocket immediately. Choose between goatskin or embossed crocodile leather and 11 vibrant shades ($46, graphic image.com).

13.

Help your groom travel in style with the Lotuff indigo "No. 12 Weekender" bag. Crafted from vegetable-tanned leather, it's the ideal replacement for your guy's old beat-up carry-on ($1,200, lotuffleather.com).

4.

On your bouquet, in your flower girl's hair, around your favor boxes—there's no shortage of ways to dress up your celebration with Natalie Stopka's marbled silk ribbons, which can be customized in your colors ($20/3 yds, nataliestopka.bigcartel.com).

8.

Coffee and tea service packs a pastel punch if it comes with Beau-coup's flavored sugar cubes in lavender, blue raspberry, mint, lemon, and rose ($58 for 150, beau-coup.com).

5.

From porcelain dishware and napkin rings to ice buckets and more, the personalization options from Sasha Nicholas make it easy to flaunt that new monogram (from $28, sashanicholas.com).

9.

Your flower girl will be pretty in pink (and a Peter Pan collar), thanks to Tadashi Shoji's "Dahlia" dress. To get her really excited about the outfit, gift her the matching bear, too ($228 for dress, and $99 for bear, tadashishoji.com).

10.

Give your bridesmaids Margaux's kit to send away for made-to-measure suede ballet flats that suit their specs, and they'll be tickled pink—or one of the other 13 shades the kicks come in ($202, margauxny.com).

14.

Put desserts on a palette-abiding pedestal. Glitterville Studios's melamine cake and cupcake stands are offered in 12 splashy hues (from $16, glitterville.com).