

Artemisia Set - Energetic Remedies for Babesia

Many of the essences in the Artemisia Set are made from varieties of Wormwood, and several others are derived from plants traditionally used as vermifuges or antimalarials. All of the essences in this set help restore energetic balance to those compromised by blood parasites. This set is typically used in conjunction with the Teasel Set. We recommend that trained Delta Gardens practitioners use this set.

Delta Gardens makes no claims that flower essences can heal or alleviate any illness or disease. References to organs or physical systems indicate the etheric aspect of the body - the energetic signature of a particular organ or system - rather than the organ, itself, and are intended to guide further inquiry.
