

20 Cheeky Gifts Every Royal Family Fanatic Will Love

When it comes to finding a special something for your friend who studied abroad in London or your sister who made you tune in to the Royal Wedding, look no further than these British-inspired gifts.

MAKE's New Medieval Palette

For the beauty-obsessed philanthropist in your life, MAKE's new medieval palette says Britain without something so obvious as the Union Jack. Referencing art and natural elements, British designer Faye Toogood drew upon two Romantic landscape painters to create this collection. The palette includes four matte eyeshadow hues ranging from moody grays to smoke and cool blue. Lips go bold and matte in daring orange, everyday neutrals, and autumnal hues. Plus, 10 percent of sales are donated to the We See Beauty Foundation, a nonprofit that supports women-led, worker-owned businesses in at-need communities.
