PUBLISHER'S NOTE

GREYSTONE BOOKS continues to celebrate our thirtieth year of publishing throughout 2023. An anniversary is a great opportunity to reflect on history and to look forward, and many of the books on our Fall 2023 list use lessons from history to encourage change for a sustainable future.

Our Fall 2023 list brings forward Canadian and international voices—sharing stories from Antarctica to Australia to Norway, and exploring everything from the enchanting creatures in the deep ocean to the destruction caused by mining the planet .Across the list as a whole, well-being is a key theme —well-being of the land, the oceans, and of all those who inhabit the planet.

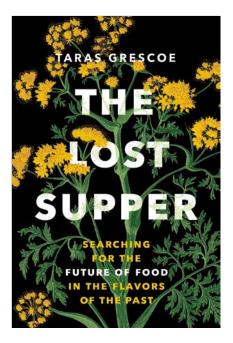

As we look toward Greystone's future, we have added to our international presence, welcoming Andrew Furlow as Head of Greystone Books U.K. this spring. Andrew joins an already strong team based in the United Kingdom, and he brings a wealth of knowledge about that market. He will oversee our sales and marketing programs in the United Kingdom and Europe in order to help us grow around the world.

We look forward to a future full of Naturally Great Books!

The Lost Supper

Searching for the Future of Food in the Flavors of the Past TARAS GRESCOE

Praise for previous books by Taras Grescoe

- "Filled with excellent short character sketches and keeps the reader turning the pages to find out what will happen next... Brings to life a special time and a special place." WALL STREET JOURNAL on Shanghai Grand
- "A headlong swoon... The feeling is easy to catch." NEW YORK TIMES BOOK REVIEW on Shanghai Grand
- "[A]n important reminder that we all have to take better care of our oceans." DAVID SUZUKI on Bottomfeeder

In the tradition of Michael Pollan and Anthony Bourdain, a far-reaching, globe-trotting account of ancient cuisines—and why reviving them is the key to saving the future of food.

THE LOST SUPPER explores an understanding that is quickly spreading among chefs, food producers, and scientists: that the key to sustainable eating lies not in looking forward, but in looking back to the foods—many of them forgotten or on the verge of extinction—that have sustained us through our half-million-year existence as a species. Grescoe introduces us to the surprising flavors whose revival is captivating gastronomes around the world: ancient sourdough bread last baked by Egyptian pharaohs; raw-milk farmhouse cheese from critically endangered British cattle; ham from Spanish pata negra pigs that have been foraging on acorns on a secluded island since before the United States was a nation; olive oil from wild trees.

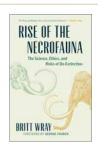

From Ancient Roman fish sauce to Aztec caviar to the long-thought-extinct silphium, The Lost Supper is a deep dive into the archaeology of taste. Through vivid writing, well-researched history, and first-hand culinary experience, award-winning writer Taras Grescoe sets out a provocative case: in order to save these foods, we have to eat them.

TARAS GRESCOE is the author of seven nonfiction books and a widely read commentator on the interplay of food, travel, and the environment. His journalism has been published in many of the world's leading newspapers and magazines, including the New York Times, The Guardian, and National Geographic. He lives in Montreal, QC.

Pitfall

The Race to Mine the World's Most Vulnerable Places CHRISTOPHER POLLON

The disturbing legacy of mining is laid bare in this harrowing and well-researched account ending on a vision for a better industry—which will prove essential as we transition away from fossil fuels by digging for "green" metals.

MINING HAS LEFT a trail of devastation across the planet. Most of the copper, gold, and other metals we depend on come from countries in the global south, which bear the human and ecological consequences; the benefits go to "transnational" companies based in wealthy nations. Yet the push for green infrastructure means we need more metals than ever before. How can we transition away from fossil fuels without causing further harm?

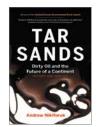

To answer this question, journalist Christopher Pollon digs into the past, present, and future of mining. Through on-the-ground reporting and interviews with miners, activists, and executives, he uncovers how the industry leaves a wake of violence and ecological harm—and how growing movements for justice led by Indigenous peoples and national leaders are demanding change. Along the way, he highlights levers for accountability and argues that we need to radically rethink our approach to resource extraction.

CHRISTOPHER POLLON is an independent journalist who reports on the politics of natural resources, focusing on mining, oceans, and energy. His work has appeared in dozens of publications, including National Geographic, VICE, The Walrus, The Tyee, and the Globe and Mail. He lives in Vancouver, BC.

WHEN FARLEY MOWAT met Claire Wheeler in August 1960, the attraction was immediate, and within days they were lovers, despite the fact that Farley was married. Their affair—partly aided and abetted by publisher Jack McClelland—included an extended correspondence until several years later, when Farley finally obtained a Mexican divorce and the two were married in Texas. They were together until Farley's death fifty-four years later.

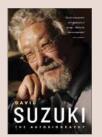

Claire, a brilliant diarist, has given author Michael Harris complete access to her journals and letters, as well as Farley's letters. Harris has also conducted extensive interviews with her as well as original research. The result is a literary love story for the ages, complete with photos of the couple who defied convention to be together.

MICHAEL HARRIS is the author of nine books and has received numerous awards for his writing. Three of his books have been made into movies, and his work has sparked four commissions of inquiry. He has also written numerous magazine articles and several television screenplays. He lives in Lunenburg, Nova Scotia.

The Pig and I

The Tale of Our Relationship With a Beast We Eat KRISTOFFER HATTELAND ENDRESEN

Translated by LUCY MOFFATT

A conflicted bacon-loving journalist labors for six months at an industrial pig farm in this compelling investigation into the long relationship between humans and swine.

IN THIS EYE-OPENING and lively book, journalist Kristoffer Hatteland Endresen follows a litter of piglets from birth, all in the hopes of understanding what goes on inside an industrial pig farm and whether humans can ethically justify eating pork. He mucks out pig pens, cuddles a piglet, and narrowly escapes being trampled. Drawing on history, literature, archeology, and myth, Endresen interweaves his piggery experience with surprising insights into the long and star-crossed bond between pigs and humans. Sharing new science on video-game-playing swine and pig heart transplants, he asks if pigs really are as smart as we think.

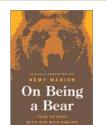

Both an engaging saga of an overlooked animal and a provocative exploration of the ethics of industrial meat, The Pig and I asks us to consider not only where our food comes from, but also the tangled history that first brought it to our plates.

KRISTOFFER HATTELAND ENDRESEN is a historian and journalist who has worked in the fields of writing and teaching. This is his first book. He lives in Norway.

The Two-Headed Whale

Life, Loss, and the Tangled Legacy of Whaling in the Antarctic SANDY WINTERBOTTOM

- "The Two-Headed Whale challenges preconceptions of the Antarctic, splicing in themes of colonialism and capitalism and their links to both environmental and human exploitation." SUNDAY POST (U.K.)
- "Winterbottom has combined the story of a teenage whaler's death with her shock at the state of the Antarctic today... The book cleverly weaves these two tales together." SUNDAY TIMES (U.K.)

Part "polemic, industrial history, nautical writing, elegy and ecology" (The Scotsman), The Two-Headed Whale charts the tragic history of the post-war whaling industry alongside the author's thrilling memoir of sailing the Antarctic.

IN 2016, Sandy Winterbottom embarked on an epic six-week tall-ship voyage from Uruguay to Antarctica. At the mid-way stop in South Georgia, her pristine image of the Antarctic was shattered when she discovered the dark legacy of twentieth-century industrial-scale whaling. Enraged by what she found, she was quick to blame the men who undertook this wholescale slaughter, but then she stumbled upon the grave of an eighteen-year-old whaler from Edinburgh whom she could not allow to bear the brunt of blame. There are two sides to every story.

The Two-Headed Whale vividly brings to life the spectacular scenery and wildlife of the vast Southern Ocean, set alongside the true story of Anthony Ford, the boy in the grave, as he sailed the same seas and toiled in an industry where profits outranked human life. Drawing together threads of nature and travel writing with an unflinching narrative of life onboard a whaling factory ship and the legacy it left behind, The Two-Headed Whale leaves us questioning our troubled relationship with the extraordinary abundance of this planet.

SANDY WINTERBOTTOM spent most of her career as an academic, teaching and researching in the environmental sciences at the University of Stirling. In 2010, she left to work in the renewables industry, but following a life-changing trip to South Georgia and the Antarctic in 2016, she returned to study and completed the creative writing masters program at Stirling, tutored by Kathleen Jamie. She lives near Muckhart in central Scotland.

The Dolphin Who Saved Me

How an Extraordinary Friendship Helped Me Overcome Trauma and Find Hope MELODY HORRILL

"An inspiring book about love in its purest form." JANE GOODALL, DBE, founder of the Jane Goodall Institute & UN Messenger of Peace

The Glass Castle meets H Is for Hawk in this stunning debut memoir about a traumatized young woman's healing bond with a river dolphin whose habitat she fights to save.

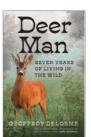

WHEN MELODY HORRILL arrived at university she was a troubled and lost young woman, hiding behind a carefully crafted exterior. She had experienced a child-hood of emotional and physical trauma, mainly at the hands of her violent father, that was as damaging as it was brutal.

One day Melody volunteered to help her lecturer monitor pods of nearby river dolphins. There for the first time she encountered Jock, a solitary dolphin with a maimed fin, who lived apart from the highly social pods. Melody grew to form a bond with Jock that gave her the key to freeing herself from the demons of her own past, their extraordinary friendship being the start of her long-term mission to save river dolphins.

Beautifully written and filled with insight and compassion, Melody's memoir details her life-changing friendship with the river dolphins, and how Jock helped her to heal.

MELODY HORRILL is an award-winning journalist, presenter, and documentary producer, with more than twenty years' experience in broadcast media. She is well-known for her passionate writing and filming about the endangered wild dolphins in Australia. Her documentary Dance With a Dolphin was broadcast across the world on CNN, with Melody presenting it from the U.S.

The Curious World of Seahorses

The Life and Lore of a Marine Marvel TILL HEIN

Translated by RENÉE VON PASCHEN

For readers of The Book of Eels and The Soul of an Octopus comes a stunning tour through the surprising world of seahorses.

DID YOU KNOW that male seahorses give birth? Did you know that they have no stomach, only intestines? Did you know that seahorses hunt by sucking up their prey through their toothless snout?

Of all the creatures in the ocean, there is none more charming and magical—or more strange—than the seahorse. This entertaining and informative book shares the most tantalizing findings of current research, revealing the secret world of seahorses at a time when they are under numerous threats to their survival. Amid a plethora of surprising facts and anecdotes, readers will learn that seahorses carry their young in a pouch like a kangaroo; that they have independent eyes like a chameleon; that females deposit their eggs inside the male; and that seahorse couples begin each morning with a dance, twirling and dipping together for several minutes before parting for the day. This book will captivate any reader looking to learn more about an astonishing creature with whom we share our planet.

TILL HEIN studied history, German, and Russian before becoming an editor and a science journalist. He is a great friend of fish and has written profiles of finned creatures for over ten years, from hagfish to gray sharks to seahorses. He lives in Berlin.

Our Little Farm

Adventures in Sustainable Living

PETER AND MIRIAM WOHLLEBEN

Translated by JANE BILLINGHURST

Praise for The Hidden Life of Trees

"Heavily dusted with the glitter of wonderment." NEW YORKER

"A declaration of love and an engrossing primer on trees, brimming with facts and an unashamed awe for nature." WASHINGTON POST

"[Peter Wohlleben] has listened to trees and decoded their language. Now he speaks for them." NEW YORK REVIEW OF BOOKS

From the New York Times bestselling author of The Hidden Life of Trees, Peter Wohlleben, and his wife, Miriam, comes an inspired, practical memoir of creating a sustainable homestead among the trees.

CALLED "A VERITABLE TREE WHISPERER" by the Wall Street Journal, Peter Wohlleben is known across the world for his illuminating books about forests and how to help them thrive. Now, the German forester invites readers into his home for the first time in Our Little Farm, describing the steps he and his wife, Miriam, have taken to live sustainably and in harmony with nature.

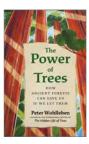

Peter and Miriam moved from the city to a remote forest lodge in the early nineties. Amid juggling careers and raising a young family, they learned how to plant and rotate crops, harvest and preserve nature's bounty, and tend to the unique needs of their animals and environment. Along the way, they made mistakes and abandoned some projects (raising sheep was not their thing) but maintained a sense of joy in their shared goal.

Brimming with insights, wisdom, and tips on everything from constructing farm buildings to choosing the perfect chicken, Our Little Farm shows that, with a little grit, humor, and self-compassion, it's possible to live according to our values and to care for the Earth even as we care for ourselves, our homes, and our families.

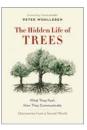

PETER WOHLLEBEN is a forester and author of several bestselling books about the natural world for adults and children. He lives in Germany's Eifel Mountains, where he manages a sustainable forest and runs the Wohlleben Forest Academy.

MIRIAM WOHLLEBEN has a background as an industrial clerk and manages the back office of Peter Wohlleben. After three decades of country living, she cannot imagine a life without goats, chickens, horses, and a vegetable garden.

Behind the Mask

A Revealing Look at Twelve of the Greatest Goalies in Hockey History RANDI DRUZIN

Praise for Between the Pipes

"An engrossing read." PUBLISHERS WEEKLY

"Will leave even the most knowledgeable fan learning something new." JOE PELLETIER, Hockey Book Reviews

In the highly knowledgeable and irreverent spirit of her bestselling first book about NHL goalies, Randi Druzin returns with portraits of another dozen famous characters.

BEHIND THE MASK profiles twelve legendary NHL goalies, exploring the traits that make each one unique. It blends accounts of the goalies' on-ice exploits with anecdotes about their lives off the ice—gleaned from archival research as well as interviews with teammates, family members, and the goalies themselves.

The careers covered here span the last half-century of professional hockey from the personal struggles of Roger Crozier and Ed Giacomin on their way to stardom in the 1960s, to the recent brilliance of Carey Price and Marc-André Fleury. Told with Druzin's trademark mix of knowledge and wit, Behind the Mask has all the insight and color of a bestseller in the making.

Hockey goalies profiled include:

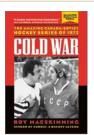

- Roger Crozier, Detroit Red Wings / Buffalo Sabres
- Rogie Vachon, Los Angeles Kings
- Gerry Cheevers, Boston Bruins
- Ed Giacomin, New York Rangers
- Tony Esposito, Chicago Black Hawks
- Vladislav Tretiak, Soviet Red Army
- Mike Palmateer, Toronto Maple Leafs
- Grant Fuhr, Edmonton Oilers
- Roberto Luongo, Vancouver Canucks
- Marc-André Fleury, Pittsburgh Penguins / Vegas Golden Knights
- Henrik Lundqvist, New York Rangers
- Carey Price, Montreal Canadiens

RANDI DRUZIN is an author and journalist. Her work has appeared in the New York Times, Time magazine, the Globe and Mail, and several other major publications. She is the author of three books, including Between the Pipes. She lives in Toronto.

The Diabetes Code Journal

The Official Workbook for Reversing Type 2 Diabetes Through Healthy Eating and Fasting A Companion Workbook to The Diabetes Code

DR. JASON FUNG

Recipes by ALISON MACLEAN

Praise for The Diabetes Code:

"Dr. Fung reveals how [type 2 diabetes] can be prevented and also reversed using natural dietary methods instead of medications... This is an important and timely book. Highly recommended." DR. MARK HYMAN

"The Diabetes Code is unabashedly provocative yet practical... A clear blueprint for everyone to take control of their blood sugar, their health, and their lives."

DR. WILL COLE, author of Intuitive Fasting

"The methods described by Fung should be taught to medical students and residents, and used in family medicine offices as part of a lifestyle approach to promoting health." FAMILY MEDICINE JOURNAL

Reclaim your relationship with food and cement daily habits to lose weight and reverse type 2 diabetes with The Diabetes Code Journal, a twelve-week guide to better health from New York Times bestselling author and "the founder of intermittent fasting" Dr. Jason Fung (Daily Mail).

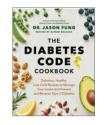

THE DIABETES CODE JOURNAL takes Dr. Fung's groundbreaking approach to treating type 2 diabetes—his method includes intermittent fasting and a low-carb diet, as outlined in his sensational book The Diabetes Code—and turns it into a daily practice that anyone can follow. Over the course of twelve weeks, readers will record daily food intake, including which foods spike and do not spike blood sugar; monitor daily glucose levels; and be mindful of changes to their overall health and wellbeing. A weekly challenge asks readers to focus on the things that matter and take important steps to improve diet and lifestyle choices.

With a selection of recipes from The Diabetes Code Cookbook, and a shopping list to help readers equip themselves with the right foods, The Diabetes Code Journal is a much-needed addition to the Dr. Fung collection: a practical guide to kickstart the journey to better health.

DR. JASON FUNG is a bestselling author whose books have helped thousands of people lose weight, prevent and reverse disease, and improve their overall health.

River Notes

A Natural and Human History of the Colorado Revised and Updated Edition WADE DAVIS

Due to extreme drought and chronic overuse, the Colorado River and all those who depend on its waters are in peril. During a pivotal moment in the river's lifespan, acclaimed author Wade Davis tells the story of America's Nile. Blending natural and cultural history, geology and conservation, his account reveals the side effects of our centuries-old quest for progress, and presents an opportunity to learn from past mistakes and foster the rebirth of one of the world's most important rivers.

"Above all, the book—by turns lyrical, elegiac and combative—is a plea to save the Colorado River before it is too late." WALL STREET JOURNAL

"[Shows] how we are all connected to this river, whether we recognize it or not."

WASHINGTON POST

"River Notes sings not because of its recounting of geology and history with words that have been said many times before, but because of its personal song to a river that, despite all, still inspires." COLORADO REVIEW

WADE DAVIS is an ethnographer, photographer, filmmaker, and the author of several critically-acclaimed, bestselling books. He is a former Explorer-in-Residence at the National Geographic Society.

Strangers in the House

A Prairie Story of Bigotry and Belonging

CANDACE SAVAGE

Updated with a New Preface by the Author

A renowned author investigates the dark and shocking history of her prairie house.

Shortlisted for the Regina Public Library Book of the Year Award, the Saskatoon Public Library Saskatoon Award, and the Saskatchewan Book Award

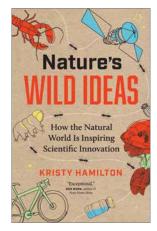

"Well-researched and highly readable ... [with] meticulous notes and an astonishingly detailed bibliography." LITERARY REVIEW OF CANADA

"Examines how animosities were culturally perpetuated and how one family struggled to survive in Saskatchewan at a time when 'foreignness' was seen as a disadvantage." QUILL & QUIRE

"Savage cares deeply about place, perceiving everywhere a vast well of the people, plants, animals and structures that have come and gone over time, and what that storied sediment shows us about now." GLOBE AND MAIL

CANDACE SAVAGE is the author of several bestselling, award-winning books, including A Geography of Blood, which won the Hilary Weston Writers' Trust Prize for Nonfiction.

Nature's Wild Ideas

How the Natural World Is Inspiring Scientific Innovation

KRISTY HAMILTON

A lively and fascinating look at groundbreaking human inventions inspired by nature.

"An impressive look at the myriad human innovations that have been derived from animals and plants ... enhanced by a healthy dose of humor ... and amusing accounts of her fieldwork. Fans of Helen Scales won't want to miss this." PUBLISHERS WEEKLY (Starred Review)

"Future-looking and exciting... About biomimicry in action and the groundbreaking human inventions inspired by wild plants and animals." PSYCHOLOGY TODAY

"A call to get back in touch with the natural world and to preserve it for the future ... An impressive, inspiring book." WINNIPEG FREE PRESS

KRISTY HAMILTON is a science journalist who has written for WIRED, Science Magazine, Hakai Magazine, Business Insider, and other publications. Her WIRED article was featured on the website's front page as one of "Today's Picks." When she's not on the road, she lives in San Francisco, CA.

Wired for Music

A Search for Health and Joy Through the Science of Sound ADRIANA BARTON

A fascinating account of the healing power of music, as told by a longtime former cellist and health journalist.

"Adriana Barton explores the power of music in her impressive debut. ... Witty and soulful, this will delight music fans." PUBLISHERS WEEKLY

"A riveting account of how melodies and rhythms connect us, and help us deal with alienation and anxiety. May every parent and teacher—everybody who aspires to make our world a better place—read this wonderful book." DR. BESSEL VAN DER KOLK, author of The Body Keeps the Score

"Thoroughly researched and tenderly written, [Wired For Music] blends neuroscience and history with [the author's] own personal reflections and encounters with musicians across the globe." GLOBE AND MAIL

ADRIANA BARTON was a staff reporter at the Globe and Mail and has contributed to Utne, Azure, and the San Francisco Bay Guardian. She studied the cello professionally for seventeen years before becoming a journalist. She lives in Vancouver, BC.
