

Alle Conference Table

by Staffan Holm

Inspired by simple Japanese wood-joining techniques he saw in Zen temples, Staffan Holm created Alle, a generously proportioned oak table that features his trademark mix of modernity and tradition. The Alle's thin, rounded edges give an impression of lightness and elegance unusual for such a large piece, while the legs attach to the table top via a continuous beam, eliminating the need for tools.

The Alle 250 cm is ideal in the workplace and comes in a pale or natural finish.

The conference version features built-in compartments for media ports.
