Agape International Missions (AIM) is proud to have partnered with Hope Outfitters for the past seven months on the Forever Free initiative.

In our existence as a non-profit fighting sex trafficking in Cambodia, we have partnered with many organizations; however, few have given as much toward AIM as Hope Outfitters. They are also unique in that their team is made up entirely of volunteers. They sacrificially donate their time and talents to raise funds and awareness for important causes and organizations.

In partnering with Hope Outfitters, AIM was certain that we were partnering with an organization sharing the same passion for showing Christ's love to the poor and oppressed. We were assured that for four months, AIM's cause would be promoted and at the end, we would receive 100% of the profit. Four months later became seven months and the impact and awareness multiplied along with the extended period of time.

Ryan Welch and his team of talented volunteers created an impactful video and social media campaign to promote the Forever Free initiative. Additionally, they designed six t-shirts specifically to sell for our initiative.

We are extremely grateful for our partnership with Hope Outfitters and would highly recommend them to any organization interested in partnering to raise funds and awareness for their cause.

Sincerely,

Julie Harrold
