1. Spread accessories of the product on the ground. Lay the net assembly on the ground with the black net facing up.

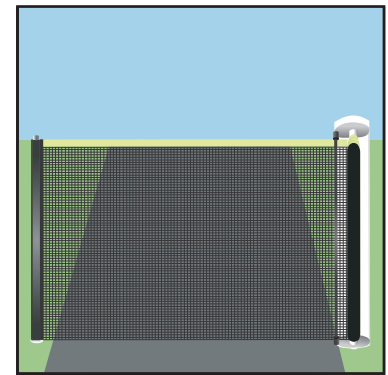

2. Place the plastic pipe with the black plastic cap facing down, on the grass. The top of the tube should be slightly angled away from the driveway. Place a piece of wood or cardboard over the tube and use a hammer to drive it all the way into the ground. Note: In order to ensure safety and avoid hitting this with your mower, make sure to drive it flush with the ground.

3. Insert the steel pipe of the main axis of the driveway net assembly into the plastic pipe in the ground first. The plastic pipe is to protect the iron pipe from corrosion, and makes it easy to place the assembly into the ground and remove it.

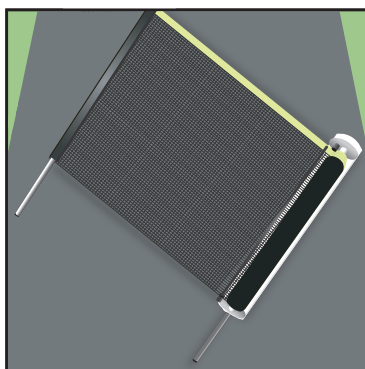

4. After inserting the main shaft, unroll the net until the net is fully unrolled, and then insert another white plastic tube at a suitable position. As you did in Step #2, also ensure the top of the tube is slightly angled away from the driveway. Then, insert the other end of the net into the plastic tube. Now your net should be taught and ready for use.

5. Pull out both ends of the net from the plastic tube in turn, and lay the net on the ground. Roll up the net using the following steps.

6. Align the hand crank with the hole of the main shaft and rotate clockwise to retract the net. Continue cranking until the net is fully retracted. Note: Do not over crank or product could get damaged and cause injury.
