About the Products

Healing

Copper Moon Apothecary has formulated truly healing lotions and potions as well as salves, balms, and bar soaps. While all formulations are intended to heal externally, many are deliciously pampering and soothing to the soul and senses. All of the Apothecary's products are made with healing intent in small batches to ensure the quality and the integrity of the pure ingredients used.

Organic

The Apothecary uses only certified organic herbs grown in the Apothecary garden, wild crafted or purchased from reputable sources when fresh herbs are seasonably unavailable. Our rich emollient oils and butters are fair trade, organic, unrefined and sustainably harvested.

Sustainable

Copper Moon Apothecary's products are minimally packaged in recyclable amber glass with labels composed of post consumer brown paper bags. Sustainability is the highest priority in every detail, from the source of local bulk ingredients to packaging and shipping materials.

About the Company

Copper Moon Apothecary is dedicated to the wisdom of traditional healers and the use, formulation and application of herbs and other pure botanicals for the purpose of healing. The last decade has exploded with the reemergence of herbal healing and scientific studies validating what ancient practitioners have been passing on for thousands of years — herbs really do work — and it is time to trust nature again.
