

Hot Lines | Edited by Vicki Hengen

PRODUCTS, SERVICES, AND UNEXPECTED NECESSITIES

LEVEL BEST

This is one nifty line of jewelry. Former Concordian and Rhode Island School of Design grad LeeAnn Herreid designs rings, necklaces, and earrings ($50 to $80) that do more than merely adorn the body; they really work. The levels – fluid-filled objects with air bubbles that tell you when you're balanced – come with lemon- or lime-colored fluid. Other functional choices, all in sterling, are compasses, to help you find your way, and bull's-eyes, because you never know when you might be used for target practice. – Diane Daniel

Jewelry by LeeAnn Herreid At The Store @ DeCordova, DeCordova Museum and Sculpture Park, Lincoln; Black Ink, Boston; Joie de Vivre, Cambridge

Vito Aluia

Please send information about products and services to The Boston Globe Magazine, Hot Lines, P.O. Box 2378, Boston, MA 02107-2378.