

MOTHER IN LAW'S KIMCHI

장모
김치

Based on original recipe of Jang Mo
Gip Restaurant,
Established 1989.

AS SEEN IN...

O MAGAZINE, APRIL 2010

O | Food

Eater's Digest

Delectable finds for food lovers.

Hot Slaw

In traditional Korean culture, a bride adopts her mother-in-law's recipe for kimchi—think spicy, garlicky sauerkraut. Lauryn Chun acknowledges that tradition with the name she gave her version of this probiotic-rich condiment.

(Mother in Law's Kimchi, $20 for two jars; foodzie.com)