

DubbleTemplates

Detroit 1 - The combination profile of 10'-20'. Produces massive speed and very good balance. Great for big ice hockey. Fantastic speed, even during cross-over skating. Good mobility. Modest agility.

Detroit 2 - The combination profile of 13'-26'. More for heavy defensive skaters. Great backwards skating. Also, a good goalie profile.

Combo 10' -13' - Very good acceleration, tight turns, and cross-over skating. Produces more speed when compared to Combo 9'-10'.

Combo 9' - 10' Great acceleration, tight turns, and cross-over skating. For lighter skaters. Size of holders up to 263 .

Toronto 1 - The combination profile of 7'-10'. Used to improve acceleration, tight turns, and cross-over skating. For elite light skaters. Size of holders up to 246

Toronto 2 - The combination profile of 9'-15'. Produces massive acceleration and good balance. Size of holders up to 280

Toronto 3 - The combination profile of 11'-17'. Produces good acceleration, speed, and balance. For big mobile defensemen. No need to profile more than 40- 50%. Size of holders up to 288

Win 1 - The combination profile of 9.5'-10.5'. Increases acceleration, tight turns, and cross-over skating. For lighter players. Good for female specific players. Size of holders up to 272

Win 2 -The combination profile of 10'-11'. Good acceleration, tight turns, and cross-over skating. Produces better top end speed when compared to Win 1. For lighter players. Good for female specific players. Size of holders up to 280.