

Wedding Week Schedule

1-2 Weeks Before Your Wedding

Make sure you have all supplies, ribbons, vases, snips, buckets ready to go! This is so important!
The last thing you need on the week of your wedding is hunting down supplies.

1st of the Week

- Clear your workspace, pull out supplies, have trashcans ready to go, and fill vases and buckets with water!
- Print off recipes for you and your helpers!
- Make a list of everything you need to make so you don't forget anything!

Flower Day 1

- Day one is when you either pick-up your flowers or have them delivered!
- Cut and prep and allow the flowers to open and hydrate.
- Day 1 will not be a heavy design day, but if you get a wild hair then make a mock-up bouquet or centerpiece
- Prep typically takes 1-2 hours, and a helper is nice, but not necessary.
- Prep day is messy because flowers come with sleeves and you're re-cutting and stripping off the foliage. Have your trashcans ready!
- Set aside your favorite blooms for your bridal bouquet, you'll make this last and you don't want the best buds going in a centerpiece.

Flower Day 2

- This is a great day to get the bulk of your arrangements done!
- Start with the easiest design to get your hands and confidence moving!
- Great day to have a few helpers knock it out!
- Try to complete: Centerpieces, maids, bouts, and any large arrangements
- Most brides spend 3-6 hours on their flowers. It really depends on how much you're making. Most designs take 10-20 minutes, you'll pick up speed after the first few!

Flower Day 3

- Build that bridal bouquet, sweet pea!
- The reason to wait is to allow those flowers to open to full capacity!
- Create any crowns or wrist corsages the day before and keep them stored in a tubberware in the fridge.
- Start putting your arrangements in boxes and get it all ready for transport to the venue!
- Make a bucket of all the leftover blooms to take to the venue and make a 'Supply Bag' that has scissors, ribbon, snips in case you need it later.

Wedding Day

IT'S YOUR WEDDING DAY AND YOU FREAKING DID IT!
