What is the DCOF AcuTest?

The DCOF AcuTest is an evaluation of the COF of a tile surface under known conditions using a standardized sensor prepared according to a specific protocol. Measurements are made with the BOT-3000, an automated and portable device that measures DCOF. The ANSI standard A137.1-2012 also allows the use of other equivalent tribometers.

IWT will continue to phase out and update where necessary the technical data for all of its product lines.

GUIDELINES & STANDARDS FOR GROUT JOINT SIZES & PATTERN CONSIDERATIONS

The TCNA handbook outlines their recommendations as to the type of grout joint to be used, regardless of size, for rectified and pressed tiles as determined by the ANSI A108.02 specification.

This specification states that regardless of size, but especially for large format tiles, rectified and pressed tiles laid with a straight or offset joint should be utilized with a minimum grout joint to take into account for warpage. The minimum recommended grout joints are as follows:

- Pressed Tiles – 3/16" minimum grout joint regardless of pattern
- Rectified Tiles – 1/8" minimum grout joint regardless of pattern
- Natural Stone – 1/16" minimum, patterns may vary

In addition, ANSI A108.02 Section 4.3.8.2 states that for running bond/joint brick patterns utilizing tiles (square or rectangle) where the side being offset is greater than 14" (nominal dimension), the running bond offset will be a maximum of 33% unless otherwise specified by the manufacture. Use constitutes acceptance.

50% - Is Not Recommended

Max 33% - Recommended

To help overcome much of the tile size and facial dimensional issues, IWT-Tesoro offers an installation system that allows for smaller grout joints to be used. The Eventile system aligns the tile surfaces to eliminates lippage, minimizes floor prep of uneven substrates and prevents tiles from shifting while drying. [see page.5]
