

Skin Hair Makeup Nails Fragrance Spring Beauty Lipstick Index

Hair

How to Get a Wavy Bob Like Julianne Hough and Heather Morris

By Ranya Barrett // May 24, 2012

The longer, wavier (and flirtier if you ask us!) cousin to the hugely popular bob—think Katie Holmes and Victoria Beckham—feels fresh for spring. Phillip Pelusi, CEO and Founder of Tela Beauty Organics by Phillip Pelusi in New York City, gives us the lowdown on how to recreate it.

This hairstyle works best on naturally wavy hair that falls at, or above, shoulder length. You'll need about twenty to thirty minutes to recreate the look and the recommended products are:

- · Blow Dryer
- Paddle Brusi
- · Hot Rollers or Curling Iron
- Boost by Tela Beauty Organics by Philip Pelusi
- · Composer by Tela Beauty Organics

To create this look:

- Prep hair by applying a small dollop of Tela Beauty Organics Composer to towel-dried hair. Section hair, starting at the nape of the neck and working your way up to the top of the head, and blow dry with a paddle brush until hair is silky smooth.
- 2. Lightly spray each section of hair with a volumizing product such as BOOST from Tela Beauty Organics, then part hair and proceed to dry with hot rollers or a curling iron. Hold rollers or curling iron perpendicular to the head to get the effect of spiraled curls. Vary the amount of hair you put in each section of the hot rollers or curling iron so that the curl pattern is slightly uneven.
- Remove rollers and allow curls to cool, then break up curls with fingers. Apply a small amount of Tela Beauty Organics Composer once more, then lightly scrunch and style for sexy, tousled waves.

Try this with a cute maxi dress or romper!

Photo: Getty Images

Recommended

Justin Bieber Finally Reveals His Relationship Status

24 Celebrities Who Might Just Be Immortal

Melissa McCarthy Shows Off New Slim Figure

Rebel Wilson Reveals Why She Hid Her Real Age in Hollywood