

Installation: Pivot-EZ (Customer Installed their own hose)

Installer: Ken Kromann

Unit: 2007 NuWa Hitchhiker Discover America 327

Hello Bryan,

I am finally on the road, so am able to test the result of my efforts. I would be happy to share my experience with you.

While the installation didn't go as smoothly as others have experienced, I think there will be few that are more challenging, and it proves that Pivot E-Z can be installed nearly anywhere that the sewer connection is accessible. I also modified the drain line while I was waiting for E-Z to arrive. In retrospect, it probably would have been easier to mount the saddle hanger while the drain section was removed and that area around the frame was more open.

Another note about my trailer that I forgot to mention before is that it was a prototype for the production model, and to my knowledge only two were built as a 327RSB. I suspect that the 329RSB and its larger derivatives benefited from some refinements to the drain line layout.
