

Rococo

Artisan Ice Cream

ARGENTINE-STYLE, SMALL BATCH ICE CREAM

OUR DIFFERENCE

At Rococo Artisan Ice Cream we think ice cream should be about flavor, purity, taste and texture. Our ice cream is made in an Argentine style, a hybrid of Italian gelato and farm stand creamery traditions. It is rich in cream, full of flavor, and frozen slowly; with less air added and served warmer to enhance the flavors. Our flavors are produced in small batches and reflect the uniqueness of our seasons, environments and inspirations.

OUR STORY

Founded in 2012 in Kennebunkport, Maine by Lauren Guptill, a 10th generation Mainer, Rococo Ice Cream has become a favorite stop among the local community of Southern Maine. Lauren strives to compose inventive flavors that expand upon global culinary trends with a desire to introduce visitors to flavor profiles from every corner of the world.

OUR REACH

Rococo is an innovative source of excellent quality ice cream that continuously remains a delicious treat for lazy summer afternoons. In addition to being awarded the sixth-best ice cream shop in the nation in 2014 by TripAdvisor, Rococo Ice Cream continues to draw national and international attention to its exotic and innovative flavor profiles.

International accolades include a feature story and recipes in the esteemed Arte Heladero, a Spanish publication for European and Latin American ice-cream aficionados; A write-up in the noted La Presse newspaper from Montreal; and a feature on Direction la Mer a travel show on the Évasion Channel. Rococo Ice Cream has also been featured in national publications such as Woman's Health, Food and Wine, Coastal Living, and Town & Tide; a Kennebunkport-inspired guide that features an interview about Lauren's creative process as well as recipes.
