

Thank you to our sponsor

Swati Saxena
Your Trusted Realtor
Baird & Warner

The GO10vember challenge runs from 11/1/2023 to 11/30/2023. No purchase necessary to participate. Please pick your challenge carefully. We will only accept one completed map from each participant, so you can only do one of the challenges. Good luck!

GO10vember 2023

TEN YEAR ANNIVERSARY EDITION

For the past decade, Oak Parkers have shuffled through the cold days and long nights of November, jumping over ginkgo berries and slipping on wet leaves to achieve the goal of finishing GOvember and earning bragging rights for a year. This year we cannot guarantee warm weather, or that the map is accurate, but we can inject some extra fun into our 2023 edition.

GO10vember Scavenger Hunt

We've compiled an extensive list of the best of Oak Park. The weird. The pretty. The GOvember-y. It's all here! Take a photo of your find, (selfies preferred, but photos are fine) and tag us on Instagram @livelyathletics OR post the photo in the GOvember Facebook group. Find at least 10 items on the list to be eligible for a prize, drawn from all participants at our wrap party on December 1.

- The house of the man who wrote Tarzan
- A dog in a fashionable outfit
- The small plaque celebrating the life of Oak Park's balloon man
- Your favorite OP business that's been around for at least 10 years
- The house where mobster Sam Giancana met his end
- Yard chickens! Everyone in OP owns chickens these days, right?
- The continental divide sign
- Halloween decor still out past 11/15 (No judgment. It'll probably be at my house)
- The Star Wars House—you'll know it when you see it!
- The house that looks like it's straight out of a fairy tale, with a wavy thatched roof
- One GOvember lawn sign in the wild
- Chestnut Lane or Marion Court—the bane of the GOvemberer's existence
- Your favorite public art in OP
- That awful gateless fence on Roosevelt that messes with the south Oak Park flow
- A house with a name plaque
- Another GOvemberer—recognize them by the map clutched in their hand
- Bowling ball landscaping (Bonus if you find two! But I think there are 3!)
- The goldfish mural garage
- A walking meditation maze
- A tiny metal dinosaur statue
- The ticket booth from the World's Fair
- A mountain of ginkgo berries, which should be the easiest item on this list, honestly
- A little free library
- A life-sized lion on someone's front porch
- Your favorite coffee shop in Oak Park
- The little free library that has been converted into a tiny art gallery
- A tiny Thor having tea with a tiny Batman
- Caterpillars with human faces
- The magical gated fence on North Ave that is probably only used by GOvemberers
- The Mohr Christmas tree

Lively Athletics 109 N. Oak Park Ave., Oak Park, IL

Rules, prizes, details and more at livelyathletics.com/blogs/news

Follow the fun by joining the official Lively Athletics GOvember Group at facebook.com/livelyathletics