Vitamin C Serum: An orange-yellow liquid, our morning serum in our “Flawless” line is the best way to start your day. In the morning, gently pat or rub this serum upward onto face. A little goes a long way. For drier skin, follow with our Hyaluronic Acid Serum for further, lasting moisturization.

Retinol Serum: Another superstar in our “Flawless” line, this cloudy gel-type serum should be used at night due to its high retinol content. It is important to allow skin to acclimate to Retinol slowly to ward off dryness, flaking, and irritation, so using this serum 2-3 times per week initially is recommended. Whether you have naturally dry skin or not, use our Hyaluronic Acid Serum after to help mitigate Retinol’s naturally drying effects. If skin becomes irritated, use less often. (Continued on Next Page)

Further Information: While our serums are designed to be used to complement each other, many people decide to use our Retinol Serum at night (due to Retinol causing sun sensitivity), and our Vitamin C Serum in the morning to balance out their skin-care routine. When combined with our Hyaluronic Acid Serum, your “Flawless” look is complete!

Finally: While you may see results sooner, new regimens take at least 30-60 days to see full results (this is science, not marketing). Please be patient and allow our serums a natural timeframe to work with your skin.
