

Do you want to feel like a gringo riding at sunset through dusty paths, sleeping under the stars, and drinking whiskey in a saloon? Then join us for a three-day adventure in the Tabernas desert in Almeria!

Why the Tabernas? Because it's the location where many spaghetti westerns were filmed in the '70s. You can feel like a true gringo riding through cowboy country alongside the Fuel team, with nothing but the barren landscape sprawling in front of you. A ride to the desert... a doorway to hell!

Our route will include a mix of off-road and on-road riding, and the bikes we recommend for the trip are old or new scramblers, sidecars, and customized bikes. Just be ready to roll.
