ADJUSTING YOUR RUNNING BELT

The Sport2People Running belt can be adjusted to comfortably fit your waist from 27.5" (69 cm) to 40.5" (103 cm). In order to make the belt shorter than 40.5" you need to weave the excess strap through the strap slider.

Adjust the strap to its shortest length using the strap slider
Adjust the strap to its shortest length by moving the slider as far towards the pockets part as possible.

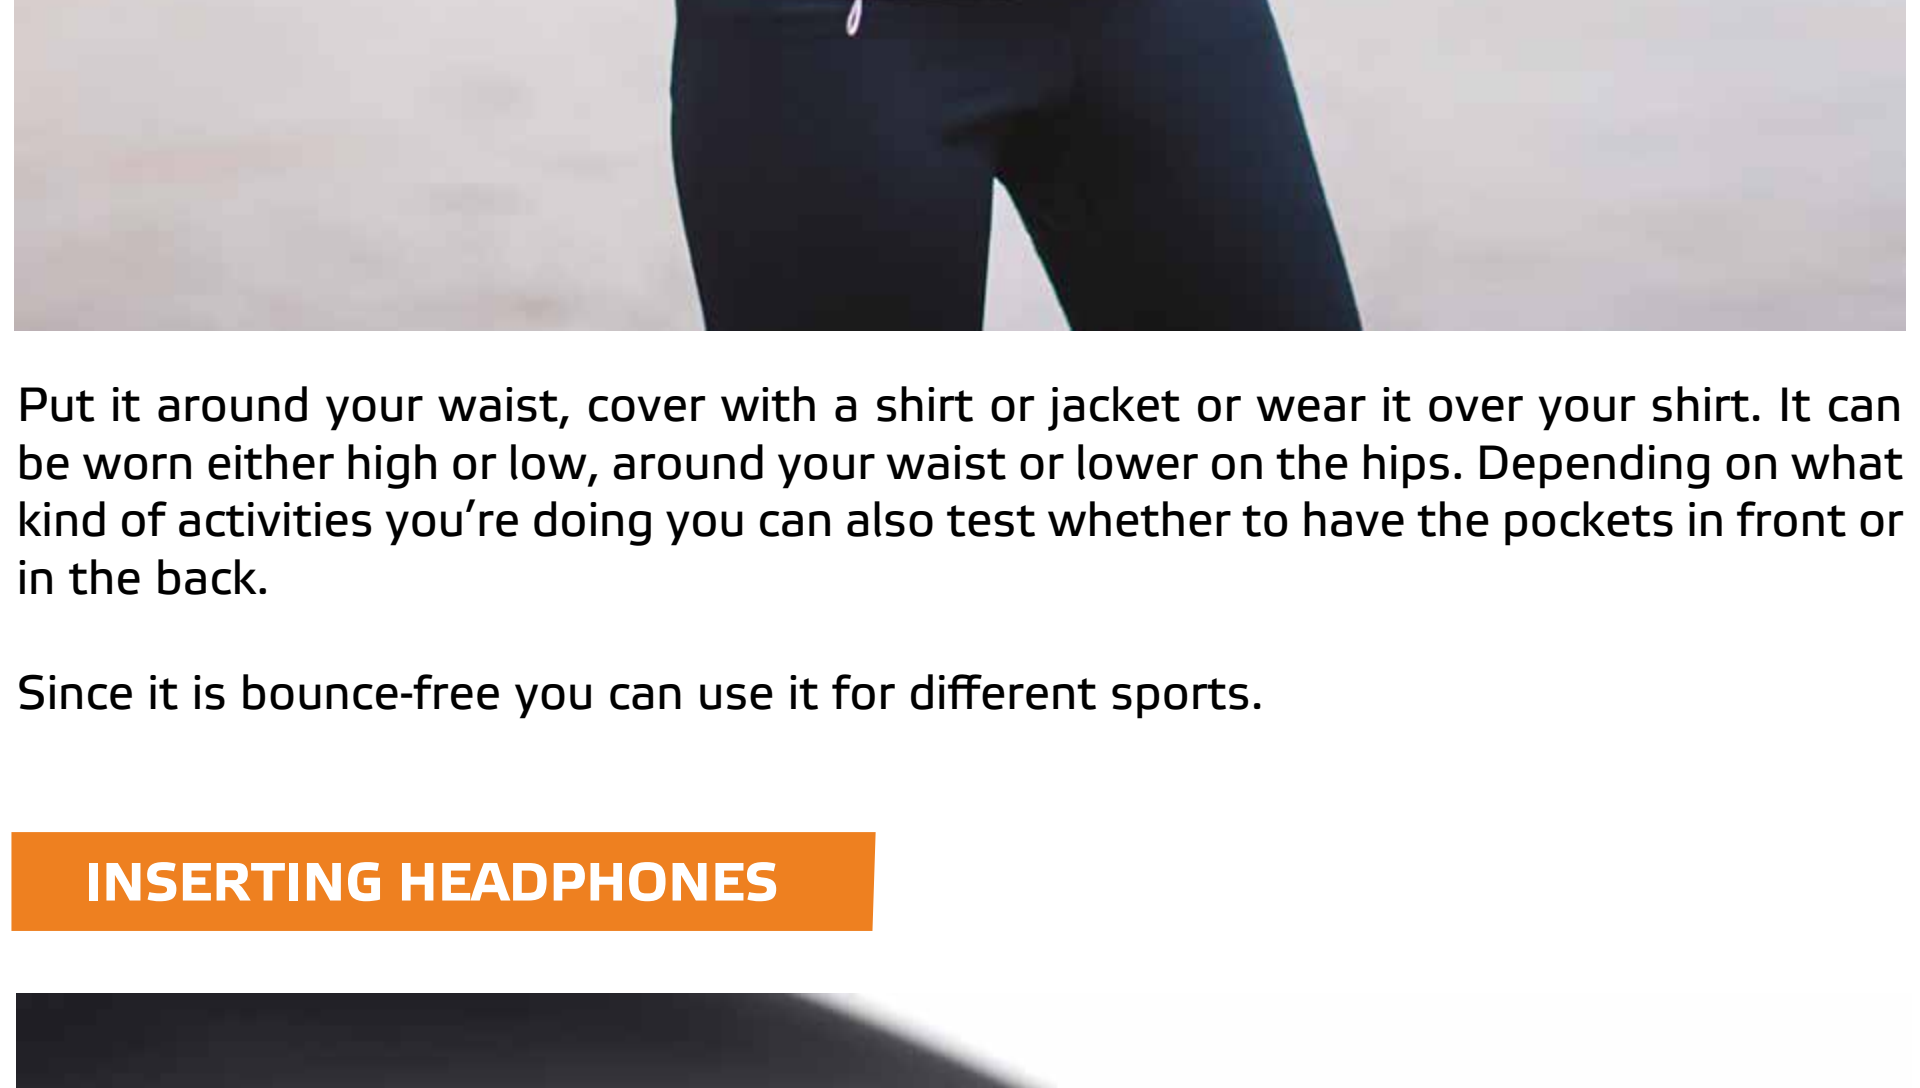

Pull the top part of the strap as far out as possible
Pull the top part of the strap as far out as possible. Doing this will also shorten the bottom part to its minimum length.

Fold the excess strap and place its corner through the strap slider
Fold the excess strap and place its corner through the strap slider. When doing this on a brand new belt, you may need to slightly force it through since the strap material is still very stiff.

Pull the rest of the strap through the strap slider
Once you get the corner through, pull the rest of the strap all the way through until it's tight.

Once done, the final result should look like this
Note that you can do this to either one end or both ends of the strap, depending on how much it needs to be adjusted. If you need any assistance adjusting the belt, please contact us and we will happily help you out.

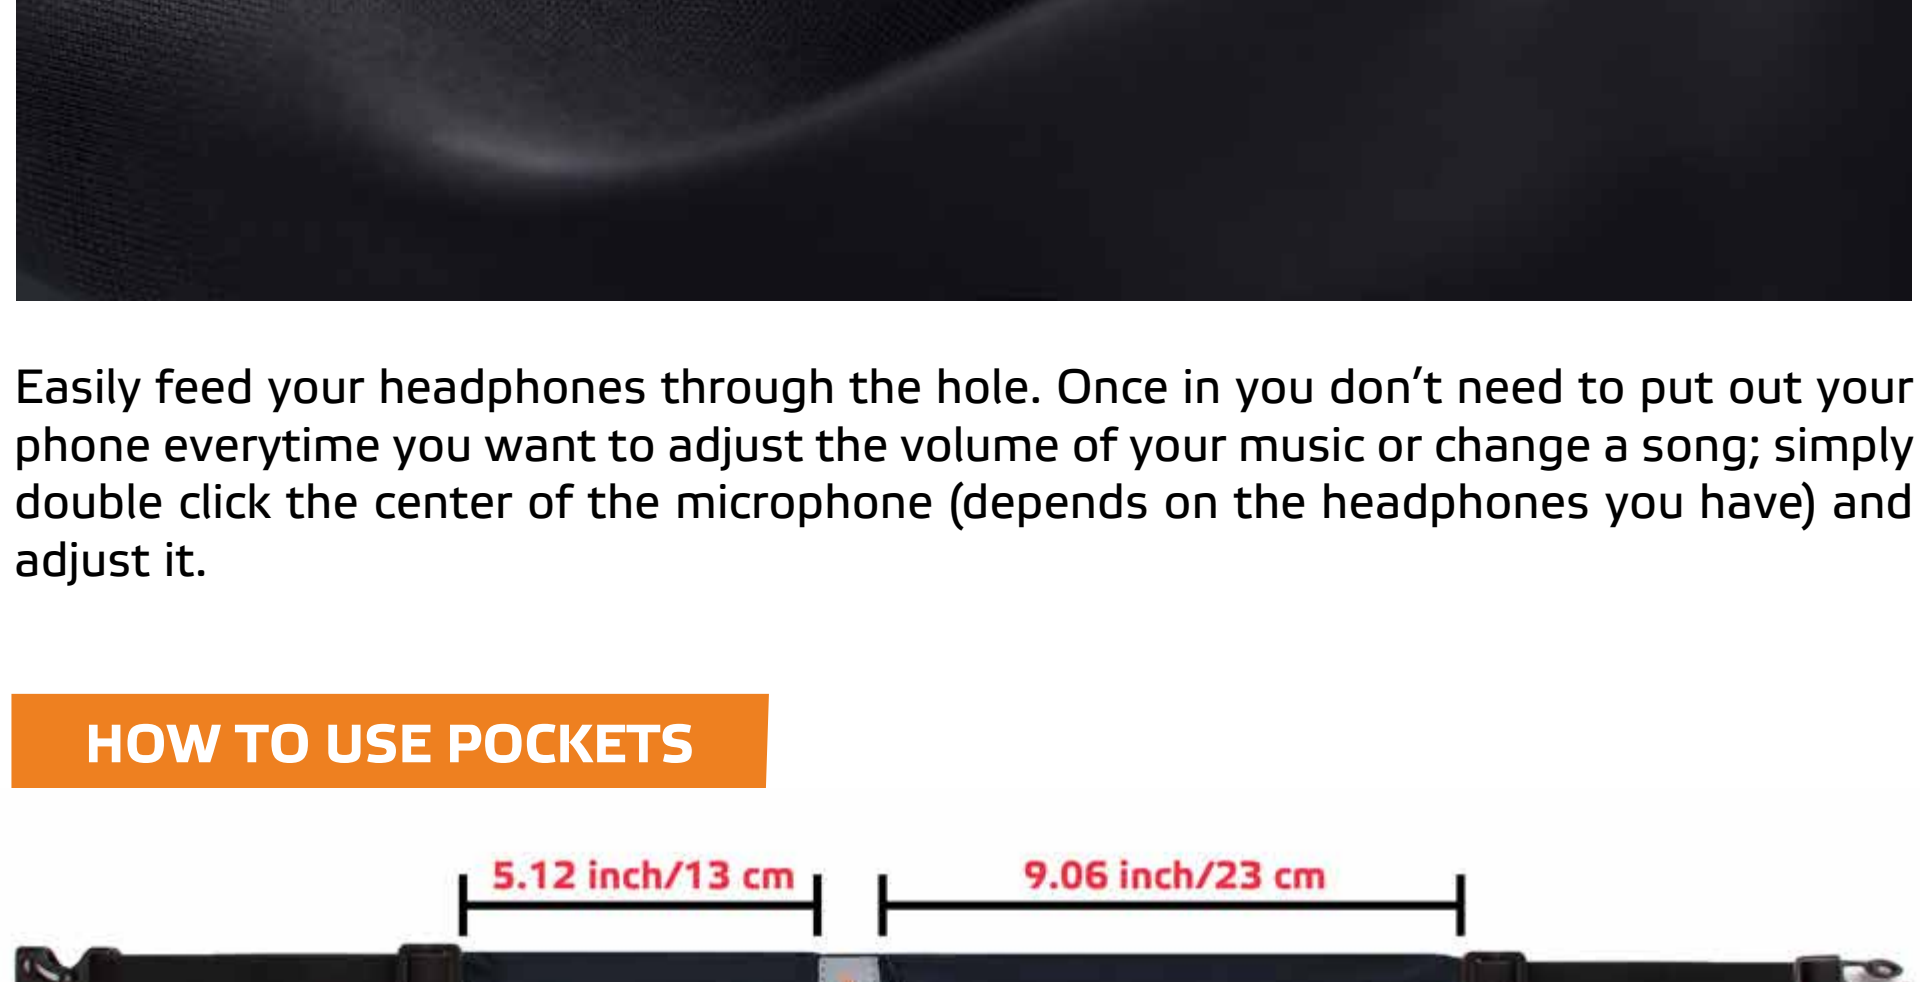

HOW TO WEAR IT

Put it around your waist, cover with a shirt or jacket or wear it over your shirt. It can be worn either high or low, around your waist or lower on the hips. Depending on what kind of activities you're doing you can also test whether to have the pockets in front or in the back.

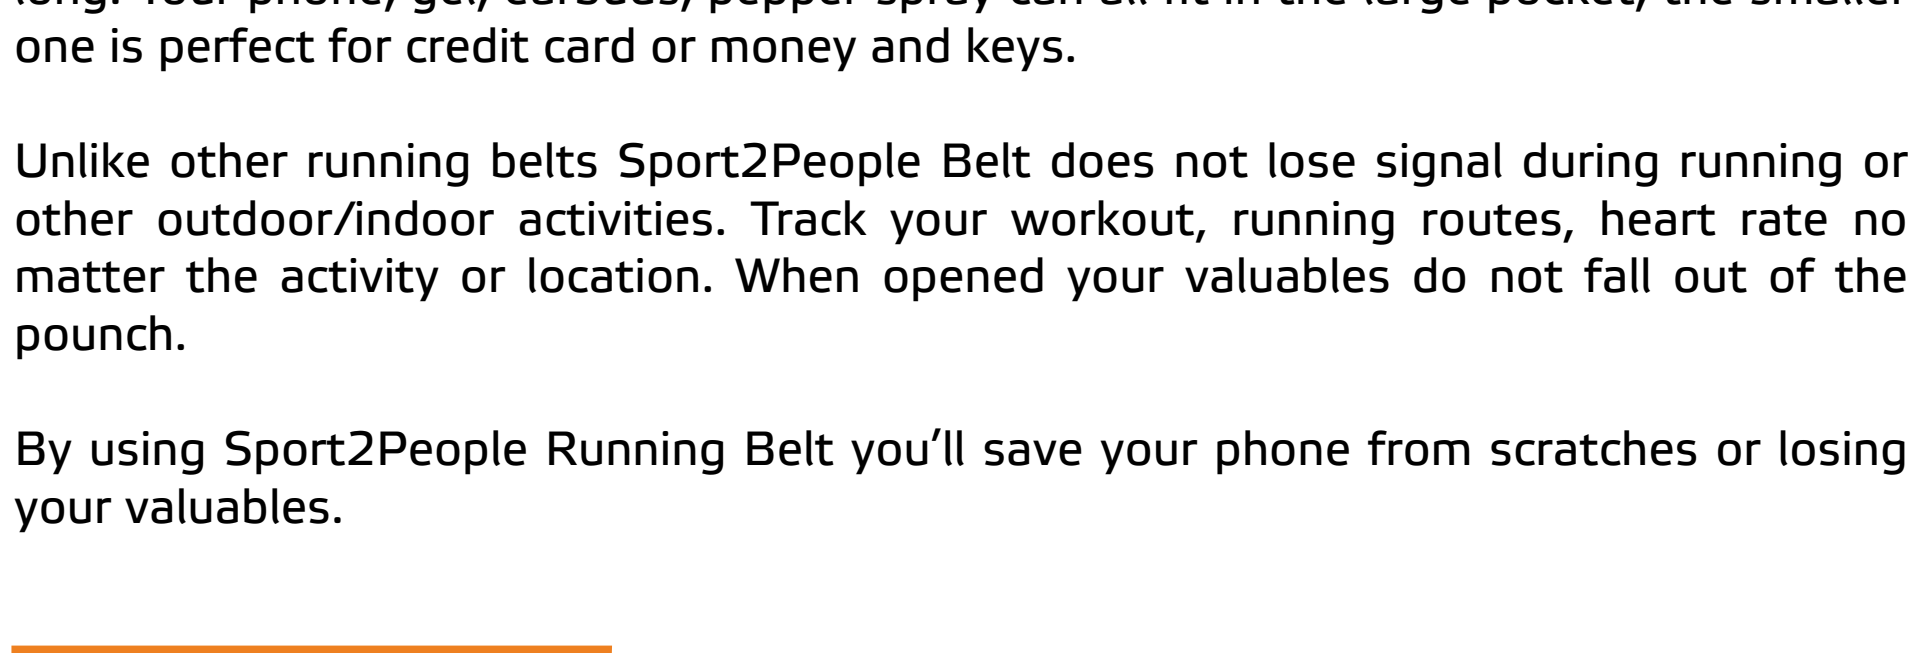

Since it is bounce-free you can use it for different sports.
