by Lori Ennis (<http://www.mothering.com/articles/author/lori-ennis/>) on June 1, 2017

There's no question: it's super fun to prepare for a new baby by buying sweet gifts for the little one. But let's not forget about the mamas.

There are some great things out there for mamas, too, and we've compiled a list of ten of our faves!

1. Baby Booster Prenatal Protein (<http://thebabybooster.com/>)

This ain't your mama's protein powder! It's a yummy way for you to pack essential prenatal nutrients in with a yummy tropical drink-ish! It has 20 grams of protein to help you fuel your energy and baby-growing amazingness, and they even have a mocktail page that gives the most delicious recipes!

2. Damiva Mae Vaginal Moisturizer (<https://damiva.com/mae-vaginal-moisturizer/>)

While this company may tout itself as a must-have for menopause, we're letting the secret out about how amazing it is making sure bow-chicka-bow-wow time is special (and comfortable). It's a safe and natural moisturizer that helps the lady bits remember what it was like before baby came along!
