Your affiliate links do not need to be different for each site. However, you have the option to add subIDs to the end of your link if you want to track the performance of each separately. Doing so will tell our system to tag the subIDs to clicks going to each link respectively. This scenario would allow affiliates to generate reports based on the subID/source of sales. You would set this up like so: <https://www.golftrainingaids.com?discount=1234&rfsn=54321&subid=facebook>
