

James Precept Upon Precept course has been revised from 15 lessons to 10 lessons. Some of the lessons were mostly an Observation Worksheet on one chapter, so we combined parts some lessons to give a little more work for those lessons but still leave plenty of time to meditate on what we're learning. Also, some of the word studies were originally assigned based on a King James or an old New American Standard word used. The updated New American Standard uses words more easily understood today, so some of the word studies are no longer necessary. Some wording changes were made to make questions clearer.
