

Gracy's Tips

- Dot daffodils about in lawns to create a meadow effect or plant them in groups of seven to ten to make an attractive splash of colour!
- The flowers will look towards the sun, so keep that in mind when planting in semi shade. The best Narcissi for forcing in pots are Paperwhites!

www.farmergracy.co.uk

Narcissi

Love your garden
www.farmergracy.co.uk

©2017-2018 Farmer Gracy · All rights reserved
info@farmergracy.com
+31 6 1565 0514

FARMER
GRACY

Get the Best out of Your

Narcissi

Gracy

Grown and packed by farmergracy.co.uk

General info

Narcissi have inspired poets and brightened up spring gardens for hundreds of years. They're tough, reliable plants, and the bulbs are likely to settle into your garden, reblooming every year. They're great in containers and you can get a foretaste of spring by forcing them to flower early indoors. Some cultivars flower earlier in spring than others, so you can plant varieties that flower at different times to extend the flowering season.

A few planting basics

Narcissi are among the easiest bulbs to grow, but a little common-sense gardening will get them off to a great start.

Pick a sunny or lightly shaded area with freely draining soil. Adding compost helps to improve drainage, so dig in about one spade of compost to every three spades of soil.

You're ready to begin planting your bulbs!

Planting instructions

- Plant your bulbs in Autumn, no later than September
- Plant them twice as deep as the bulb is high (or follow package instructions)
- Ideal spacing depends on cultivar. Check your package instructions
- Plant them with the point side facing upwards
- Cover with soil and water well. Apply mulch (optional)