

Mr Jones Watches

We're a small, passionate team working from our London studio to bring you watches that are a bit different.

Today, everyone checks their mobile phone to see the time. This liberates the watch from being a purely functional object and means that we can be a bit more playful with it.

We design, print and assemble watches in London and every watch we make tells a story. Our range of unconventional watches are designed to make you think differently about your time.

We sell worldwide through our website, and we have a shop facing the river on the first floor of the iconic Oxo Tower Wharf in London.
