AMICO

By far, the most often requested new model by our customers is a portable version of our Solo music system. We listened and we acted. Amico (“friend” in Italian) is the result.

Now you can take your musical concierge with you on your deck, by a pool, in a park, camping, on a boat...just about anywhere. If WiFi isn’t available you can still take advantage of Amico’s FM tuner, DAB/DAB+ in Europe, wireless Bluetooth streaming with Qualcomm’s aptX for audio, and the USB and auxiliary inputs. Designed by Como Audio founder and audio legend Tom DeVesto, the real teak wood veneer and nearly ½” marine-grade plywood substrate provides robust water resistance. The included 2200 mA rechargeable Li-Ion battery provides an average 8 hours of continuous playback on a full charge, enough for most outdoor events.

Not the outdoors type? Amico’s portability means you can easily move it about your home from room to room wherever you decide you want your music at that moment. The convenient carry “handle” is cleverly disguised as the rear bass port. And since it is made by Como Audio it will work with our existing free iOS and Android apps, other Como Audio music systems in your home, and indeed other Amicos.

Transforming the Solo into a portable music system posed unique challenges, but we managed to preserve most of the features our Solo has become known for including the custom Digital Signal Processor (DSP), 30 watt per channel RMS Class D digital amplifier, Spotify Connect, NFC, dual alarms with Snooze and Sleep, USB flash drive playback/smart phone charger, dedicated remote control, auxiliary input, Ambiente speaker output, and the 2.8” TFT color display. Enjoy Amico’s high fidelity sound through its stereo headphone output or from its ¾” dome tweeter and custom 3” long throw, 4-layer voice coil woofer. There’s even the ability to dedicate one Amico to the left channel and a second to the right channel for true wireless stereo sound.

When you want your music to go, think Amico.
