SmartWeight® Technology: The Better Approach to Safe & Effective Weighted Therapy

CapeAble's patented nerve-stimulating SmartWeight Technology delivers consistent weight per square inch due to its small square design. We fill the squares with just the right amount of weight, providing therapeutic pressure. This activates deep touch receptors which signal a calming response from the body. It is the weight and pressure per square inch touching the body that is important, and not the total weight of the blanket.

A recent independent IRB-controlled study* using our PreferredWeight blankets confirmed that "the weight per square inch is more important than the blanket's total weight or the patient's body weight." This data shatters the outdated "10-15% of the user's body weight" formula commonly followed in the weighted blanket industry.

CapeAble's PreferredWeight is the benchmark weight we recommend for all of our blankets. However, we understand that specific medical needs might require more weight per square inch. For these needs, we also offer an ExtraWeight option, which provides slightly more weight per square inch.
