Guide of the 4 C's (Cut/Carat/Clarity/Color)

Cut

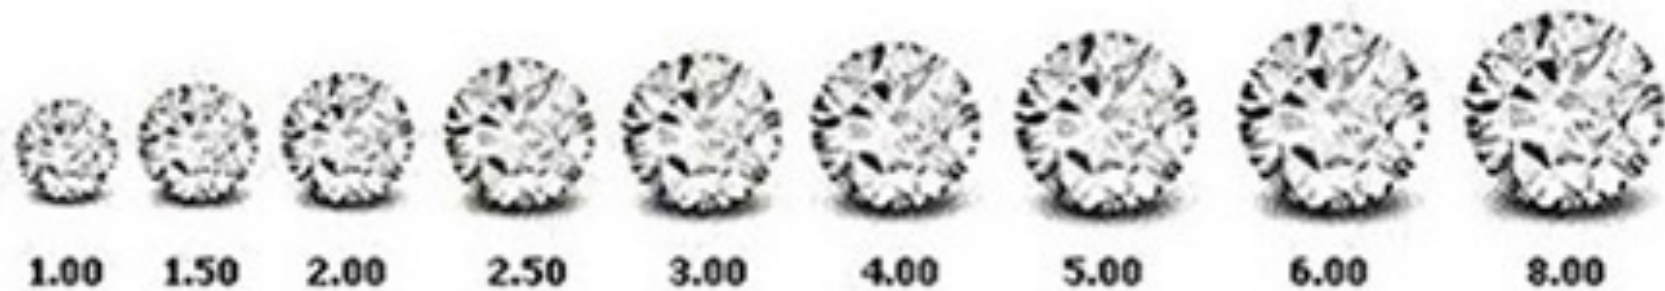

The cut has the greatest influence on its fire, sparkle, and brilliance, making it the most important C. Cut refers not only to the shape but more importantly to its proportions, symmetry, and polish.

Clarity

Clarity is an important metric to determine the level of visible inclusions to the naked eye. GIA experts agree that the clarity of Moissanite is on average the equivalent to a VS clarity on the GIA grading scale.

Carat

A carat is the unit of measurement for a diamond's weight. Moissanite stones are listed with their size in millimeters and the diamond equivalent weight in carats. This way, a 1ct. round diamond and a 1ct. round Moissanite are the same size.

Color

The GIA has developed a color grading scale which is commonly used in diamonds, and the same scale can be applied to Moissanite. Gemorie offers moissanite stones in the colorless range(grades D, E, F)
