

Graz Architectural Guide

Graz is widely deemed Austria's capital of architecture. The Alpine country's second largest city boasts both an Old Town that is a UNESCO World Heritage Site and the experimental Graz School buildings of the late 20th century. As the UNESCO City of Design since 2011, Graz fascinates with outstanding examples of historical and contemporary architecture. The updated second edition of the Architekturführer Graz—now also available in English translation—has been expanded to include 60 additional buildings. The book covers all relevant architecture from the 12th to 21st centuries. Twelve tours lead the reader to over 300 buildings, streets, and squares. The accompanying texts provide an in-depth, behind-the-scenes look at the building activities and embed this knowledge in the appropriate artistic and cultural-historical context.

Anselm Wagner, *1965, gallery director, art critic, and curator, since 2010 professor of architectural theory and head of the Institute of Architectural Theory, Art History and Cultural Studies at Graz University of Technology, 2011–20 member of Graz's Old Town Commission of Experts.

Sophia Walk, *1984, 2015–21 assistant professor in the Institute of Architectural Theory, Art History and Cultural Studies at Graz University of Technology, 2021–22 member of Graz's Old Town Commission of Experts, since 2023 academic associate in the Institute of History and Theory of Architecture at Leibniz University of Hannover.
