

BUSINESS

Chief Merchant Helen David Exits Harrods

BUSINESS

H&M Q2 Profit Slips 21%, Restructuring Continues

BEAUTY

Ariana Grande Rolls Out a New Fragrance Called Cloud

SPONSORED
Recognizing The Revolution: 4 Tech Trends Driving Digitalization of Fashion

MEN'S / MENS RETAIL BUSINESS

Res Ipsa Opens First Store on Nantucket

The unit joins other brands including Southern Tide, Vineyard Vines and Faherty in the resort community.

By Jean E. Palmieri on June 28, 2018

The Res Ipsa store on Nantucket, Mass.

Res Ipsa has jumped into the retail fray.

The brand known for its brightly colored footwear and accessories, has opened its first store in the downtown retail district of Nantucket, Mass.

Located at 4 South Water Street, the shop sells the complete Res Ipsa collection of slippers, sneakers and chukka boots made from vintage Turkish kilim rugs as well as bags and other small accessories such as wallets and key chains. The store also serves as the launch of the brand's new carry-on luggage collection.

In addition to Res Ipsa, the store also carries a selection of other complementary brands including L'Egoïste, a French men's label, OAS, a Swedish brand of men's and women's swimwear, towels and terrycloth shirts, candles from New York-based Abbott and beaded jewelry from Dallas-based Billy Baker Co.

Throughout the summer, the store will feature trunk shows from brands including active and golf label Greyson, ribbon belt brand FH Wadsworth and men's label R. Swiader.

Other retailers that are opening in Nantucket this summer are Southern Tide, Lemon and Line, and The Black Dog Tavern Co., which joins existing brands including Vineyard Vines, Ralph Lauren and Faherty Brand.

1 Comment WWD

Login

Recommend Share

Sort by Newest

ADVERTISEMENT

Find the Job of your Dreams
With the Industry's Voice of Authority
WWDcareers

ESSENTIALIST

— TODAY'S MUST READ —

Meet the New Egalitarian of Sneaker Drops: Santino LoConte of Reign

WWD Archives
500+ ARTICLES & PHOTOS
SUBSCRIBE NOW